

FIRST QUOTA MAY REQUIRE EXTRA CALL

JANESVILLE DISTRICT'S ALLOTMENT UNDER DRAFT MAY NOT BE SECURED IN FIRST 304.

MANY SEEK EXEMPTION

Men With Dependents File Claims After Taking Physical Examinations. Machinery Slow in Starting.

The Janesville district registration and exemption board's machinery for securing the quota of 152 assigned for the northern half of Rock county was running smoothly this afternoon after smoothing out difficulties incident to the start at ten o'clock this morning. Although the examinations were proceeding more slowly than originally planned, the delay was expected to have examined every man ordered to report today, before six o'clock to-night.

Due to a large percentage of men who failed to pass the physical examination and to the number who filed claims for exemption, it is probable that an extra call will be necessary before the quota is secured. Just now many additional men will be summoned cannot be estimated until the entire 304 in the first quota have been examined and their exemption claims passed upon. Officially it is reported that 300 more may have to appear before the quota is complete.

Confusion at the start was largely confined to the first thirty or forty men who were excused this morning to report at the court house after the noon hour. The policy of the examining physicians of waiving the physical examination of men with dependents was also discontinued this afternoon, and each man was told as soon as the examination was completed whether or not he had been accepted.

Hundred and One Called. One hundred and one men summoned to report at ten o'clock to the first Rock county district registration and exemption board to undergo examinations for the national army to be raised under the selective draft, presently waited their turns in the corridors of the court house.

For the entire local board composed of Sheriff Robert O. Whipple, as chairman, Howard W. Lee, secretary, E. Van Flandern of Evansville, W. McGinnis of Madison, Irving H. Key of Janesville, Dr. J. E. Penber and Alexander E. Matheson, Janesville, and their session in the supervisors' room and were present during the examination of each of the applicants. The corps of examining physicians with Dr. Penber at the head was composed of Drs. Charles Sutherland, Guy C. Wanda, and W. H. Palmer of Janesville and Dr. J. E. Penber of Edgerton. Although the first men were called in promptly to appear before the board, there was some delay with the early examinations. Forty minutes after the first man had been called before the board only two had been dismissed from its presence and no others had been called up. Physicians in charge of the examination, however, insisted that the board should not be called until the first man had been called up. The board then adjourned until 10 o'clock, when the first man was called up and the examination was resumed.

Men who might be dismissed because of physical disqualifications but who, in the event of their acceptance, would be exempted from military service, were forced to enter their exemption claim regardless of the result of the physical tests. Men who claimed exemption because of dependents had their claims entered before the board as soon as their examination was completed, and were supplied with blanks on which they shall file their affidavits. The blanks provide for an affidavit from the head of the household dependent upon him and a third party. Ten days are allowed in which to file the affidavits. In case exemptions are claimed on occupational grounds, the claim must be filed with the district board at Madison.

Take Matters Seriously. It was serious business for the men who gathered in the court house corridors. All speculated on their chances; a large percentage expected their intention to go into service if they passed the examinations.

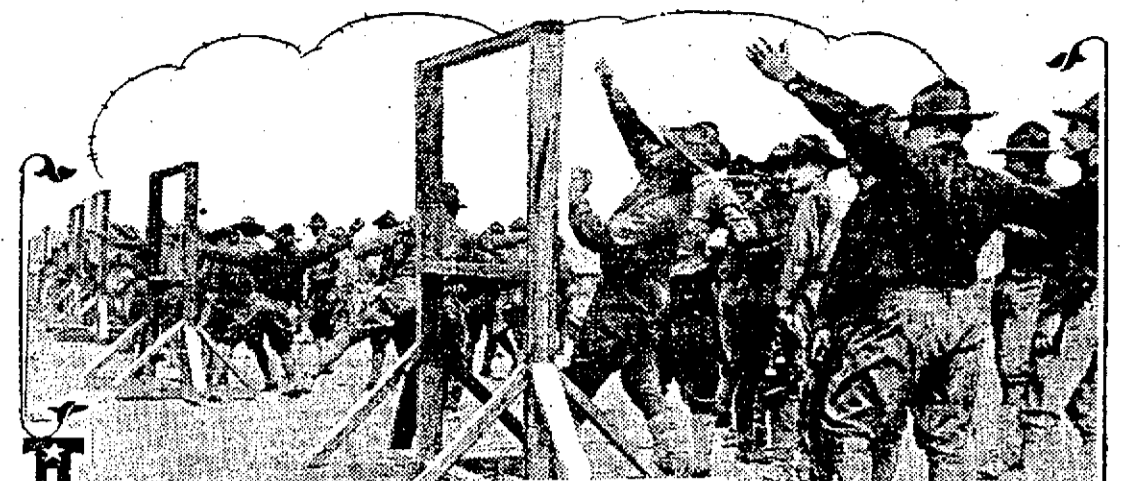

Not a few of the candidates were former boys who chafed under the delay of having to wait hours before their names were called, while harvest fields were left vacant at home with grain rapidly becoming over-ripe. Other men had business duties which they ought to have attended to, trips to the city, or other matters. There was not a little complaint that the number called, had not been distributed into smaller quotas called at special intervals. The men who report on Tuesday and Wednesday, however, have been summoned, one half in the morning and one half in the afternoon. The exemption board said that the room was hard to get to, but the members of the examining doctors and the candidates, who were called in one at a time, as soon as there was a person who had finished his share of the work.

No. 253, Arthur Schultz of Edgerton, the first man whose name was called, was not present at the first call. He was the third man to be called before the board. He was dismissed because of physical disqualifications. Schultz had previously been refused enlistment in Company M, when he sought to become a member of the Edgerton company here, its transfer to the Stockholm company.

RUSS NATIONAL DEBT INCREASED 9 TIMES

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—Russia's national debt, which at the beginning of the war was nine billion rubles, is now estimated at fifty billions, according to a report of the imperial bank.

HURLING HAND GRENADES AND HANDLING BAYONETS KEEPS RECRUITS BUSY AT OFFICERS' RESERVE TRAINING CAMPS

Men in the Officer's Reserve Training camps being taught to throw hand grenades (above) and also the newest bayonet thrusts.

The men in the many different Officers' Reserve Training camps are given thorough and intensive drilling in all of the newest war tactics. Hand grenade throwing and bayonet charging are among the most important of their lessons. The old bayonet thrust employed by the U. S. army has been abandoned and a newer motion is taught that gives more force with less exertion. Hand grenade throwing is a new item in the camp curriculum and American men are found to be more adept than most recruits owing largely to our national pastime which has taught most every youth to throw with accuracy.

U-Boat's Periscope Off New York Says A Report Today

Washington, Aug. 6.—A preliminary report from the master of a merchant ship who thinks he sighted the periscope of a submarine off New York yesterday has been received at the navy department. Investigation is being made.

Order Gates Closed. New York, Aug. 6.—A report that a U-boat had been sighted near the trans-Atlantic lanes off this port caused war department authorities to close the gates in the net protecting the harbor mouth here at one o'clock this morning. The gates were opened again at six a. m.

PLAN DEFENSE FOR MRS. DE SAULLES

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Bianca Errazuriz De Saulles will not be without friends when she is called for trial for the murder of her son, John De Saulles, last Friday night. Cable messages from South America, assuring Mrs. De Saulles that her family had not deserted her, and that her brother would return to her, were received at Mineola yesterday.

It was because of Mrs. De Saulles' devotion to her son and the fear that her former husband was planning to keep the child from her, that she killed him, according to statements by her attorney.

Following the statement given out by Henry A. Uerhardt, Mrs. De Saulles' lawyer, that Mr. De Saulles was a fortune hunter, whose love cooled after he had used about half of his wife's fortune, Mrs. De Saulles' cousin of the murdered man, today made public a copy of a letter which he said, De Saulles had written his wife. The letter, which was dated June 30, speaks of the good the country life had done for the child, and suggests that he be allowed to remain at the cottage Mr. De Saulles occupied. The letter also offered Mrs. De Saulles the use of a servant to take care of the child, should he remain at his father's home and said that he would be ready to be taken away by his mother at the time appointed by the court.

When the case of Mrs. De Saulles is called for trial, according to statements of her attorney, Mr. De Saulles will be pictured as a man whose liabilities had been forgiven many times by his wife, because of her devotion for the child. The defense also will attempt to show the murder was not premeditated, but that Mrs. De Saulles carried her revolver, a gift of her husband, for her own protection.

Application will be made for a physician's examination of Mrs. Bianca Errazuriz De Saulles, her counsel announced today, to show that her health would be imperiled by long confinement in the jail.

If it is found her health is in danger, an attempt will be made to have her admitted to bail.

GOVERNORS REVIEW STUDENT OFFICERS

Fort Sheridan, Ill., Aug. 6.—It was announced today that the governors of Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan have accepted invitations to review the student officers here next Friday.

THREE ENGINEERS DIE IN WRECK AT ROCKFORD; SAME NUMBER AT MILWAUKEE

Two engineers and a fireman were killed and a score were hurt, many fatally, at Rockford this morning when a fast Illinois Central passenger train crashed into a yard engine. The passenger train was traveling fast when the collision occurred. At Milwaukee Sunday night two Milwaukee road passenger trains met and crashed, resulting in the death of an engineer, a tramp and an unidentified soldier, and the perhaps fatal injury of three unidentified men.

WILL ASK DEATH FOR RESISTERS

U. S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY ANNOUNCES ARRESTED RESISTERS WILL BE TRIED FOR TREASON.

MAN HUNT NEAR CLOSE

One Band of Forty Arrested and Sheriff Declares Situation is Now Well in Hand.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 6.—United States District Attorney W. H. McGinnis announced this afternoon that the men arrested on charges of resisting the draft in connection with the Oklahoma uprising will be tried for treason and the death penalty will be asked by the government.

District Attorney McGinnis has sent two deputy attorneys to the infested district to gather evidence.

Hunt Near End. Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 6.—The hunt for alleged bands of draft resisters in the Seminole county hills seemed today to be nearing a close. Sheriff Grall announced that he had the situation well in hand.

Forty in Penitentiary. McAllister, Aug. 6.—Forty alleged draft resisters were brought here from Holdenville today and lodged in the penitentiary pending a hearing. Three others were arrested at Scipio and brought here.

Penalty for Slackers. Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Provost Marshal General Crowder today announced that failure of men called for examination under the draft law to report automatically indicated them into the military service, and the whole strength of the military is available to apprehend deserters, if it is necessary to use such force.

Resistance is attempted later, when the army seeks to apprehend deserters," said General Crowder, "it will instantly encounter troops of the federal government."

Safeguard Harvest. Washington, Aug. 6.—Provision to protect harvesting from shortage of hands, has been made by the government. Reservations now going out to district exemption boards.

Drafted men needed in the fields to complete harvesting will be permitted to remain at work until the need for them is over. Local boards will determine day.

REED IN ANOTHER ATTACK ON HOOVER

Washington, Aug. 6.—Senator Reed in another attack on Herbert Hoover and the men selected by Mr. Hoover to assist him in the food administration, charges that the appointment of thirteen agents to take charge of the thirteen terminal grain markets has been made "without authority of law." Several of them are native born Englishmen, he said.

Senator Reed charged that one man is an American bankrupt who went through a British bankruptcy court and that Mr. Hoover planned to hand over control of grain experts to a gentleman who has not lived in this country in a score of years.

START BIG MOVE TO SAVE WHITE FLOUR

Boston, Aug. 6.—A concerted movement to save white flour was started in Massachusetts today. At the suggestion of Henry R. Enders, state food administrator, the majority of hotels and restaurants will refrain from serving white bread this week.

CANADA'S DRAFT BILL A LAW THIS WEEK

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 6.—The Canadian senate last night advanced to second reading the conscription act, thereby insuring its passage through parliament and making certain that it will be a law. A motion by the opposition that the act should not take effect until after a general election was defeated 4 to 3. The measure will become a law this week.

URGE FARMERS INVEST PROFIT IN U. S. BONDS

New York, Aug. 6.—An appeal will be made to the farmers who have made money out of their crops, to invest their earnings in the coming issue of Liberty Bonds, according to an announcement made here today.

APPLETON MAY VOTE OUT COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 6.—Hundreds of voters are signifying a desire to abolish this city's present commission form of government. Petitions which have been in circulation for almost a week, are gaining support which probably will call a special election to decide if there shall be a return to the old mayor and council form.

Backers of the movement declare they already are assured of sufficient signers to call the election.

The commission form is declared to have proven unsatisfactory. One incident which is said to have aroused voters was the appointment of Chief of Police Price, who it is claimed was not a resident of the city, to the position of city administrator, to appoint under provisions of state laws, he having come here from Chicago.

Five State Ministers In Kaiser's Cabinet Resigned In Shake-Up

Berlin, via London, Aug. 6.—Official announcement was made today that five ministers of state, including foreign Secretary Zimmermann and four secretaries of state, including Finance Minister Lottmann and Interior Minister Von Loebe, had resigned their portfolios. Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German ambassador to Turkey, has been appointed secretary of foreign affairs in succession to Dr. Zimmermann.

Excuse for Reverses. Amsterdam, Aug. 6.—During the patriotic celebration in the German Reichstag, Deputy Lottmann, reviewing the three years of the war, is quoted by Vorwaerts as saying: "If nevertheless the unexampled German successes, which in earlier times would long ago have brought peace, had not been carried out further it is because the general world political and economical situation, operates only in favor of our enemies, who have been favorably helped by their ever-growing number of allies. This aid has enabled them to carry on the war until the present day and so it has come about that our soldiers have been really cleared out of the fruit of their victories."

FAVORABLE REPORT IS PRESENTED ON WAR REVENUE BILL

Washington, Aug. 6.—The war tax bill, finally revised to meet later estimates, was favorably reported today by the senate finance committee. It proposes to raise $2,006,970,000 by taxation. The house bill proposed $1,867,000,000. No provision for additions to be considered later by the house are made in the senate bill. Senator Simmons plans to call up the revised bill for debate the latter part of the week, and hopes for a final announcement by congress early next month. Most of the new taxes proposed under the revised bill for war expenses of the present fiscal year would come from incomes, profit on liquor and taxes. The revised senate bill strikes out the active tax upon last year's income, but principally by increasing taxes on wealthy people and by doubling it, proposes a levy of $662,000,000 on war profits and extends the tax to individuals. The postal department estimated increase in general revenues of $2,600,917, as proposed under these amended bills was said today by Simmons to be conservative. Many of those on the revision committee believed the bill in actual operation will yield many millions more.

U. S. CANTEENS TO BE SIMILAR TO BRITISH

London, Aug. 6.—James Duncan Miller, liberal member, asked in the house of commons whether representations had been made or received from American military authorities regarding the character of canteens for American troops here and in France, and whether any beverages other than non-alcoholic were provided.

In reply, James Mopherson, parliamentary secretary to the war office, said the canteens were similar to those opened to British troops. No objection had been raised by the American military authorities to similar arrangements in France.

VILLA ELIMINATED AS MILITARY FACTOR

Juarez, Mex., Aug. 6.—Francisco Villa has been eliminated as a military factor in Mexico and has reverted to his old methods of banditry. General Muir, commander-in-chief of the northwestern military zone, said here last night: "Villa has less than 100 men and is no longer to be reckoned with in a military way. He now is leading the life of a bandit."

SOCIALISTS TO MEET ON SEPTEMBER 9TH

Stockholm, Aug. 6.—The date of the international Socialist Conference to be held in this city has been definitely fixed for September 8.

KERENSKY HEADS NEW MINISTRY

CONSTITUTIONAL DEMOCRATS AGREE TO PARTICIPATE.—CHOOSE MEN FOR NEW CABINET.

IS COALITION CABINET

Appointments Not Assured in All Cases as Candidates Are Out of City.

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—The constitutional democrats have agreed to participate and the list of members who will form the new ministry has been agreed upon, but as regards several portfolios, the choice is not definite, as the candidates are absent from the city. Following are the names of the new ministers: Premier minister of war and marine, Alexander F. Kerensky. Vice premier and minister of finance, N. V. Nekrasoff. Minister of foreign affairs, M. L. Terestchenko. Minister of the interior, M. Aksentiev (social revolutionary lately released from penitentiary). Minister of public instruction, N. Oldenburg (constitutional democrat and member of academy of sciences). Minister of labor, M. Skobolev. Minister of trade and industry, M. Prokopovitch. Minister of social tutelage, M. Astrov mayor of Moscow, constitutional democrat). Minister of supplies, M. Pleschenonoff. Minister of justice, M. Yefremoff. Procurator of the Holy Synod, M. Kartashov. Minister of communication, M. Takhtamishoff. Minister of post and telegraph, M. Nikitine (social democrat). State comptroller, F. A. Golovine (constitutional democrat). Minister of agriculture, M. Tchernov (socialist). Assistant minister of war, M. Savinkov. Foreign Minister Terestchenko informs the Associated Press that M. Tchernov, who again becomes minister of agriculture, has been fully rehabilitated, his accusers having withdrawn charges that he had relations with Germany.

Shoot Russ Commander. London, Aug. 6.—General Maevsky, commander of the guards corps which headed the Russian retreat on the southwest front, has been ordered to shoot to a dispatch to the Post from Petrograd. This sentence came after a court martial, which was ordered by General Kornilov, commander in chief for preservation of discipline with his order to shoot deserters.

1 DEAD, 5 INJURED IN AUTO RACE CRASH

Milwaukee, Aug. 6.—Carl Healy of this city, was killed, and five men were injured, two possibly fatally, when three racing cars piled up as a sensational climax to an amateur speed event at the state fair track yesterday afternoon. Healy, a mechanic in one of the racing pits, went on to the top of a car which had crashed through a fence after it had dropped its battery box, when a second car crashed him. He died of his wounds. The injured men are: Harry Nelson, Elmer Vosburgh, Joseph Cross, all of Milwaukee; and W. E. Erdman, and Frank Klug of Cedarburg.

TWO PERSONS KILLED WHEN TRAINS CRASH

Milwaukee, Aug. 6.—Two persons were killed and several were injured late last night when two Milwaukee passenger trains collided on the elevated tracks inside the city limits. Fred Baumgardner of Milwaukee, engineer on the train from Chicago, was killed. The other man injured was thought to be scaling a ride on one of the trains.

The accident was attributed to the fact that a switch tender turned the wrong switch at Allis station, but a short distance from the scene of the catastrophe. Every ambulance in the city was rushed to the accident. Both locomotives were badly damaged and the engine was buckled up at a dangerous angle on the track elevation.

RETIRED MAJOR KILLS WIFE THEN SUICIDES

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6.—Major William Hoffman, 78, United States Army, shot and killed his wife with a revolver today and then turned the weapon on himself, dying instantly. The shooting took place in the Hoffman home. The police were unable to determine the reason for the act.

THOUGHTS TO KILL ABOUT POSTPONING PROMOTION

"I'll try" sounds encouraging; "I will" sounds better yet; but "I did" is all that's necessary. Most nonsense is shown when people insist on exhibiting what they imagine to be their good sense. Fastening Battery Wires.

There are two ways of doing almost everything, and this is especially true of fastening battery and coil terminal wires. One way is wrong, and the other is to twist the bare end of the wire around the terminal as the hands of the clock move and then tighten the nut. The reason for this is because the screw thread is right handed; therefore the tendency of the tightening nut will be to twist the wire around the terminal tighter than it was. Should the wire be twisted the other way the nut would tend to untwist it, and it would slip under the nut and very likely get a very poor hold.—Exchange.

Window Leaves.

Six species of plants that possess window leaves have been discovered in South Africa. They are all stemless succulents, and the egg-shaped leaves are imbedded in the ground, only the apices remaining visible. The visible part of the leaves is flat or convex on the surface and colorless, so that the light can penetrate it and reach the interior of the leaf below, which is green on the inside. With the exception of the blunt apex no part of the leaf is permeable to the light, being surrounded by the soil in which it is buried.

HAWAII IS LOYAL, SAYS DELEGATE

J. K. Kahanamoku.

According to J. K. Kahanamoku, Hawaiian delegate to Congress, urgent pleas to be sent to France to join the American forces there are being made by 3,000 Hawaiian militiamen. Mr. Kahanamoku is urging favorable action by the war department.

The question of food supply, it is said, enters into the problem of what disposition is to be made of the Hawaiian forces, for Hawaii is expected to furnish the United States much of the needed sugar and rice.

REPORT SANITATION AT CAMP DOUGLAS NEAR PERFECTION

Strict Regulation of All Sanitary Phases Insures Men's Health.—Don't Send Perishable Food.

By Special Correspondent.
Camp Douglas, Aug. 6.—That the health of the boys of Company M and all the other units assembled here for training, is safeguarded by the most rigorous sanitary inspections became evident when the report of Deputy State Health Officer G. W. Henika was made known today. After a thorough survey of the entire camp, the grounds themselves, he reported, are kept far cleaner than are most private yards. Daily raking and cleaning is part of the routine, and all the company streets are kept in spick and span condition.

All frame sanitary structures have been replaced by brick and concrete vaults and metal buildings, which are burned out daily with crude oil and straw. Coal for any street receives a daily cleaning, all refuse, waste paper, etc., being removed from the camp. Each cookhouse has its rigid rules enforced to prevent soil pollution.

The camp is abundantly supplied with good, wholesome food. Officials informed the state inspectors and relatives to send perishable foods to the soldiers, for military rules forbid having foodstuffs in company tents, which are likely to be attracted and breed.

The village of Camp Douglas is seeking to improve its sanitation, having appointed a health inspector to visit backyards and alleys, and to report on all insanitary conditions found. All factors that tend to increase the fly nuisance will receive proper attention, and all hotels, restaurants and green parlor will undergo regular inspection.

The milk supplied to the camp is up to a high quality as to cleanliness. Numerous edicts have been made by officials of the state board of health, together with personal visits to the various farms. The milk supply of this encampment, in Dr. Henika's opinion, will compare favorably with that of any large city having good milk supervision.

CAPTAIN CALDWELL TO BE INSTRUCTOR TO WHOLE DIVISION

Will Conduct School for Officers Upon Completion of War College Course.

That Captain E. N. Caldwell of Company M will act as instructor for the entire army division, comprising the troops of Wisconsin and Michigan, upon his return from the special period of training at the war college at Washington, was learned today. Captain Caldwell was the only officer of the eleventh division, comprising the national guard of Wisconsin and Michigan, to be honored thus by the war department.

It is probable that he will be in Washington for about two weeks, taking a course in trench warfare. A letter from the captain states that there are lectures and readings practically every hour of the day, from 10 o'clock in the evening, and that a tremendous number of books and pamphlets have been issued to them for study.

Upon completion of the war college course, he will return to his regiment, either at Camp Douglas or at Waco, Texas, should the troops be ordered south before that time. He will conduct a school for all the officers of the division. It is possible that he will then take up the command of Company M.

The streets here are just alive with officers of all branches of our service, and any number of French, British and Canadian, the captain writes in conclusion. "The French are sure pretty nifty looking fellows, but they are not so smart as our officers. Well, we should worry; we are all in this game for the fighting, and not for looks. Isn't it so?"

WANT THREE MORE FOR HOME GUARDS

Ninety-seven Men Have Signed Up for Local Unit.—War Department Suggests Uniform.

But three more signatures are needed before the full quota of 100 men has been secured as petitioners for the local unit of the Home Guard. Fourteen men have signed up since Saturday, and it is expected that final steps will be taken at once to organize the unit. The official recognition of the unit by the government and the issuing of the muster papers and the starting of physical examinations.

Some confusion has arisen over the details of organizing the unit, and it is thought that the more signing of the petitions is sufficient to complete the enlistment of the signer. Before this can be done, however, formal examinations must be gone through, physical examinations and other formalities similar to enlistments in other branches of the service conformed to.

It is likely that further arrangements will be made within the course of the next few days, that the work of training may be started at once.

The following are the latest to sign up: P. Kavanagh, J. E. Kennedy, Joseph E. Bransky, E. L. Kuster, Victor E. Bright, William Neher, Charles R. Van Gelder, Raymond Lee, Herbert O. Ford, J. A. Skinner, A. P. Lovejoy, E. T. Fish, E. H. Barker and G. B. Radtke.

The war department issued on Sunday specifications for a uniform for home guard organizations. It is in the form of an informal suggestion, as the department has no authority to prescribe the uniform for such organizations.

Forestry green or blue gray is suggested for the color and the coat proposed in a single breast jacket with buttons, belt loops and white metal buttons bearing the state coat of arms. Trousers and cap would be of the same material, and the latter with the letters H. G. and a wreath as an ornament with similar insignia on the coat collar.

Officers would be distinguished by shoulder loops with one, two or three circles, designating second and first lieutenants and captains, respectively, and a similar series of diamonds for majors, lieutenant colonels and colonels.

RUSH WORK ON THE BIG CANTONMENT AT BATTLE CREEK, MICH.

City of Battle Creek Lays Plans for Entertainment of Her 40,000 Guests.

With local examinations for the national arm under way, work on Camp Custer, the great cantonment being constructed for the training of the Wisconsin and Michigan contingents at Battle Creek, Michigan, is being rushed. Sidetracks have been run in to the camp site, and lumber and materials laid out for more than a mile in advance of the present construction. The camp is being rushed to the spot, and the buildings thrown up as fast as possible.

Battle Creek is organizing to do its part of the great work now being done by the government. A training camp activities commission has been organized which is securing the co-operation of practically every institution in the city. Meetings are being held for the citizens, the merchants, the clergy, and the commercial organizations. Everything possible will be done for the comfort and entertainment of the forty thousand men who will be crowded together there. A community war recreation committee has been named, and within the week will be organized, big schemes for providing for the happiness of the men will be prepared by Battle Creek citizens.

LOCAL BOY WITH THE MARINES IN FRANCE

James J. Brown Fighting in First Expeditionary Force of U. S. Marines.

James J. Brown, a private of the 45th company, son of Mrs. Sarah Brown, 423 South Third street, Janesville, is with the first expedition of the U. S. Marines to place the American flag on the firing line in France, according to advices just made public.

As usual, the marines are the first to fight, and while there are now a number of Janesville boys in France, not only with Pershing, but with other branches of the service, it is likely that Mr. Brown is one of the first to reach the front. He enlisted in the United States marine corps on September 19, 1915, at its Chicago recruiting station.

Veteran campaigners of the United States Marine Corps, who saw service in Haiti and who are now with the expeditionary force in France, will be the latter place their good working knowledge of the French language.

The national language of Haiti is French and our boys are quick to pick up a smattering of it. Haitian French and the French of the Parisian are not unlike and the U. S. Marines who saw service in the little island republic, the Caribbean, have found their knowledge of French extremely useful in their present surroundings.

PUSH CONSTRUCTION OF WACO CANTONMENT

Building at Camp McArthur Progresses Fast—Wait Sending of Troops Until Later.

With many of the state troops already in Camp Douglas and with more preparing for immediate movement to that spot, national guardsmen are looking forward anxiously to the time when they will be transferred to Waco, Texas, for training. While it is not known as yet when this move will be taken by the war department, it is not expected that the northern troops will be transferred to that point until the cantonment under construction at Camp McArthur, Waco, is finished and the buildings are ready for them.

Work is being rushed there as at all the big army camps springing up about the country, and reports from Waco show very material progress.

Grading has been completed for 3 of the 4 miles of track extension and the last 2 miles of the gravel road extend to each organization unit of the camp, so that there has been no need to push road construction work. Roads are on 36 mess houses and frames for 200 barracks are being put up. Water sterilizing sets will be shipped from New York by express during this week and water tanks from California on or before August 7.

AGED STRANGER DIES IN ROOM UNATTENDED

Victim of Attack of Heart Disease in Quarters at Corn Exchange.—No Clew to His Identity.

A stranger, 55 or 60 years of age, known only by the name of Miller, who had been in the city for several weeks, was found dead, a victim of heart disease, in his room in the Corn Exchange building this morning, and from the results of a close investigation by the police it was determined that he had been doing odd jobs, his hobby being gardening.

Not a scrap of writing or paper to give a clew to his kin was found. The only articles the police did discover in his room were cigar butts, several boxes of safety matches and a ten cent piece.

Dr. W. H. McGuire and County Coroner D. Frank Ryan were called after the body was found. The physician said that the man had been dead at least ten hours and that an attack of heart failure undoubtedly was the cause of death. There were no signs of foul play, and no suspicions concerning his relatives.

The body was found by Frank Kane. It lay on the bed as though he had been sleeping. The body was found by a patrolman, Lorenzo Cain, talked with Miller several days ago and at that time the man told the officer he had a sister living at Hoboken, N. J., who was coming here to do odd jobs, his hobby being gardening.

SERIOUS CHARGE QUASHED WHEN FRAME-UP AGAINST DEFENDANT IS DISCOVERED

Finding that the step-mother of Helen Ant, aged 11, prompted the girl to make statements of improper and indecent actions on the part of her step-mother, which the little girl later informed District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie were untrue and that her step-mother had made her do under threats of a beating, caused Judge H. L. Maxwell to dismiss the charges against the defendant. The defendant was charged with gross and revolting intimacy with the little girl in the past, but the investigation of the state's attorney, as given to the court, was that facts of the case failed to substantiate the complaint and warrant. Accordingly Judge Maxwell dismissed the charges.

EDGERTON MAN HEAD OF CANTONMENT WORK

Edgerton, Aug. 6.—City Engineer W. F. Richard was summoned by the government the last of the week to Alexander, La., where he will have charge of the construction of a cantonment camp for troops. Mr. Richard was formerly in the employ of the government and has a rank of colonel in the engineering corps. Mr. Richard left the city work now under construction, under the direction of one of his men, and the work will proceed in the usual manner. Mr. Richard will have full charge of the construction of the camp, and will be built in the most modern and sanitary manner. He expects to be able to return to the city in about another month to see that the work here is progressing properly.

New Factory Building.
The Edgerton Barn Equipment company are moving into their new factory building recently purchased, and are getting into shape to turn out a full line of sanitary barn equipment. They are rushing work on their display for the Janesville fair and will show a full line of their ware. One fair will be a line of fifty stanchions that will be operated with but a single lever, which will open and close the doors of the stalls. The company has on hand that will keep them running for some time and the future for the concern is very bright. More hands will have to be added to take care of the business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanlon of Chicago, motored from Chicago Saturday and spent the week end with friends in the city.

Lieutenant Wood and Private Leon Ellingsen were at Camp Douglas for the week end. About 100 troops and the local platoon are expected to be called to camp the last of the week or the first of the week following.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bardeen and Miss Katherine, and Miss Marquet of Milwaukee, motored to the city the last of the week and spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Bardeen.

Rev. Parr and family of Davenport, Iowa, were week-end visitors at the home of friends in the city. They will go to Lake Mendota and will spend two weeks camping before returning to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thorton of Albany, arrived today and are guests at the home of the former's son, J. W. Coon.

GETS COMMISSION IN ILLINOIS ENGINEERS

John J. O'Connor, Former Janesville Young Man, Receives Flattering Army Position.

John J. O'Connor, a former Janesville boy, has received his commission as regimental adjutant with the rank of captain, and has been assigned to duty with the First Illinois Engineers, now in training at the military camp at Fort Sheridan in May and was shortly afterward transferred to Fort Leavenworth to the officers' engineering school for the last week. O'Connor received his commission and has assignment.

Mr. O'Connor was graduated from the Janesville high school, and from Marquette university, where he took the engineering course. He taught military engineering at St. Thomas military college at St. Paul for several years, and for the past two years has been engaged in railroad construction work and logging in northern Wisconsin. Since 1915 he attended the civilian military training camp, where he was given valuable experience to qualify him for his present appointment.

As regimental adjutant, Mr. O'Connor is a staff officer acting principally in the capacity of private secretary to the colonel, Henry A. Allen.

"Fact is," said the one man, "I married because I was lonely as much as for any other reason. To put it tersely, I married for sympathy."

"Well," said the other man, "you have mine."

READY TO FIGHT, SAYS C. CHAPLIN

Charlie Chaplin.

Playing Lord Northcliffe for an attack on his patriotism published in London newspapers, Charles Spencer Chaplin, otherwise Charlie Chaplin, has announced that he is ready for military service under the Union Jack the minute England, of which he is a subject, officially calls him. Chaplin says he has invested a quarter of a million dollars in British and American war bonds.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Hog values have advanced steadily since July 20, low day last month. Saturday's market ruled strong to 10c higher, best selling at $16.45.

One drive of mixed packing hogs cost $12.45 closing day of the week, being $1.20 higher than July 20, when prices were lowest since March 15.

Choice beef cattle are selling about as high as they have recently, while grassy and undesirable kinds are 75c@82c lower than high time previous week. Lambs are generally $1@1.50 lower than a week ago.

Receipts for today are estimated at 15,000 cattle, 34,000 hogs and 12,000 sheep against 14,774 cattle, 26,379 hogs and 15,804 sheep a year ago. This week's estimated receipts, 4,000 cattle, 11,000 hogs and 50,000 sheep.

Most Steers Go Lower.
There was a nominal trade in cattle Saturday. Steers of a prime kind were scarce all week and scored 25c gain, but the bulk of offerings declined 25c@50c and a few grassy lots were off $2. Cows and heifers, along with bulls, were 35c@50c lower, while calves declined 25c@50c. Stocking and feeders were 50c@75c. Spread between grassy and corn fed is widest of the season. Quotations:

Choice to fair steers... $13.00@14.15
Poor to good steers... 12.00@13.75
Fat cows and heifers... 6.40@12.00
Canning cows and cutters... 4.50@8.35
Native bulls and stags... 5.75@10.00
Feeding cattle, 600 to 1,000 lbs... 6.15@9.25
Poor to fancy veal calves... 7.00@12.75

Hogs Show Advance.
Hogs sold strong to 10c higher Saturday and packers bought the messer supply with freedom and quality was fairly good and trade proved active. Nothing desirable was left unsold at the finish. Pigs were dull at Friday's decline and sold 50c lower than a week ago, 25c gain since the previous Saturday, and best sold at $16.45.

Quotations:
Bulk of sales... $15.30@16.40
Heavy butchers and ship-ping... 16.25@16.45
Light butchers, 190 to 230 lbs... 15.00@16.30
Light bacon, 145 to 190 lbs... 15.00@15.65
Heavy packing, 260 to 400 lbs... 15.00@15.65
Mixed packing, 200 to 250 lbs... 15.10@15.50
Rough, heavy packing... 14.80@14.90
Poor to best pigs, 60 to 135 lbs... 11.25@14.00
Stags, 80 lbs, dockage per head... 15.15@16.00

Native Sheep Sell Well.
Scarcity of native sheep enabled sellers to hold such stock steady all last week, but lambs closed $1@2c lower than the previous week's finish. Sorting was more severe, buyers favoring the prime lots of every class. Although feeding shorn and unshorn ewes were unchanged, the feeding lambs declined 75c@1.00. Quotations:

Lambs, common to fancy... $12.00@14.50
Lambs, poor to good culls... 10.00@11.75
Yearlings, poor to best... 8.25@10.75

EXTRA INNING FRAY TO CARDINALS, 9-8

COOK SCORES WINNING RUN
FROM SECOND ON WILD PEG.
—ROCKFORD THREAT-
ENING AT ALL TIMES.

BOTH TEAMS BAT HARD

Good Support Behind Both Ackerson and Crodan Sends Game Into
Extra Sessions.—Crodan
Has Off Day.

Rockford threw away its game here yesterday and after eleven innings of battling baseball, the Cardinals came out on top, 9 to 8. A wild heave by Johnson at first, kept on going when Crodan was nobody to stop it and Al Cook, who had just been sacrificed by Flene, romped home with the winning tally.

It was a great game to watch, with every type of baseball for even the most crabbed fan to appreciate. Two extra innings were necessary before the poppy bunch from Rockford were tamed and at that it was a victory for Jansville, although there is but little doubt that the Maroons could have prevented the versatile second baseman from counting.

Crodan was in hot water from the start and his hurling was in deep contrast to the exhibition he put up against Rockford two weeks ago when he blanked them, 3 to 0. Great support in the pinches saved him, although there were a couple of pinches when it didn't and the Maroons were permitted to make the fray more to their own liking.

From their showing yesterday there is no chance of the Jansville club seeking to chase them from the league as was to be the case of the league directors unless their showing yesterday improved.

The Rockford lads were full of fight and did not lay down for a single second. Boistered with a couple of classy new men, their showing was highly respectable.

With the addition of Bohlman, the new shortstop from Hibbing of the Northern league, the Cardinals have one of the best infielders in the league, and taking the team from end to end, there isn't another on the circuit that can top it. Bohlman is a find. He fielded well yesterday and with the stick in his right hand, he walked twice, sacrificed once, fanned once and fouled out once. He worked in the team-play of Flene, Cook and Kernan with perfection.

Both teams drew a pair of tallies in their respective halves of the opening inning. The Cards repeated in the third, Joe Ryan's double scoring Delaney and Joe Crodan on Crodan's hit. Crodan passed Johnson in the fifth and Swenson's two-bagger scored him. Three hits in the next inning and a wild heave sent the Maroons into the point lead and two tallies in the seventh put the Rockford crew ahead, 7 to 4.

The lead was not long standing. In the Jansville half "Duckie" Eberts was thrown out at first and with El Capitan gone, it looked dubious, even though the lead of the batting list was still on. Jack Kernan placed one along the base line back of third and Cook reached up and smashed out a three-bagger into deepest center. Kernan scored. Flene then delivered, scoring Cook, and was advanced to second by a sacrifice by Bohlman.

Results of Sunday's Games.
Watertown 10, Whitewater 3.
Port Atkinson 5, Jefferson 4.
Jansville 9, Rockford 8.

Watertown still maintains its grip on first place in the Central State league percentage ladder when it defeated the third Whitewater team Sunday, 10 to 3. By its victory the Goshawks are given another half game lead.

Port Atkinson won from Jefferson by a 5 to 4 decision and the Cardinals defeated Rockford, 9 to 8. The new entry into the league, 9 to 8.

Bert Anweiler pitched a great game for Watertown, letting Whitewater take three hits. Muldeen, who faced the Watertown gang for Whitewater, was pulled out early in the game and replaced by Lathrop, as the Goshawks obtained five runs in one inning early in the game.

Port Atkinson got four runs off Jefferson in the sixth inning, but Jefferson outthrew the Ports. Whitewater 3, Jansville 9.

Whitewater, Wis., Aug. 6.—Anweiler allowed the locals but three hits here on Sunday, and Watertown had little difficulty in whalloping the Yankees, 10 to 3. Heke led the attack with a double, triple and single in five times up. The score:

GEORGIAN PEACH HITS CLOSE TO 400; HORNSBY LEADS N. L.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Aug. 6.—In the American league, Ty Cobb is within sixteen points of the 400 mark. The Georgian is batting .334—an increase of seven points over his figures of a week ago. Going to bat thirty-five times in his last eight games, Cobb batted twelve hits, including three doubles and a pair of triples.

The Detroit star boosted his total base hitting to 226 and his lead in runs scored to seventy-six. Cobb scored twelve times in eight games. He also stole five bases.

Ruth of Cleveland added two stolen bases to his total, bringing it up to thirty-three. Veatch of home run hitting grabbed the lead in home run hitting with seven, while Chapman of Cleveland, the leading sacrifice hitter, increased his total to fifty-three. Detroit continues to lead in team batting with .260. The averages include games of Wednesday.

Leading batters for half their clubs games: Cobb, Detroit, .384; Speaker, Cleveland, .367; Sisler, St. Louis, .342; McGinnis, Philadelphia, .310; Baker, New York, .310; Ruth, Cleveland, .303; Veatch, Detroit, .300; C. Milan, Washington, .298; Rummel, St. Louis, .297; Rice, Washington, .287; Hellman, Detroit, .286; Chapman, Cleveland, .265.

Roger Hornsby, the hard hitting St. Louis shortstop, is making a desperate bid for batting honors in the National league. Unofficial averages released today and including games of Wednesday, show him batting .328—five points behind Roush of Cincinnati, who is showing the way. His first time Hornsby has been in second place this season. Cruise, his teammate, who was second a week ago, is batting third with an average of .315.

Hornsby leads the league in total base hitting. He has stretched 106 hits for a total of 171 bases. Eight home runs stand out in his remarkable batting. Cravath of Philadelphia, however, has tied him for home run honors.

Cincinnati sluggers are keeping up their territory pace. Hal Chase is in the 300 class with a mark of 303. Four of his teammates also are batting above the 300 notch, the list including Clarke, second string catcher. The Cincinnati team is keeping Christy Mathewson's team in front in team batting with an average of .265.

Burns of New York regained the lead in scoring, depositing Heinie Groh of Cincinnati. Burns has crossed the plate 68 times. Dyle, Williams and Deal of Chicago are tied for honors in sacrifice hitting with 20 each. Carey of Pittsburgh continues to show the way to the base stealers with 29.

Leading batters for half their clubs games: Roush, Cincinnati, .333; Hornsby, St. Louis, .328; Cruise, St. Louis, .327; Fischer, Pittsburgh, .313; Kauff, New York, .310; Groh, Cincinnati, .306; Burns, New York, .304; Chase, Cincinnati, .303; Wilhoit, New York, .297.

With the coming of Benny Leonard to the front in the lightweight class we see a return of the type of fighter who existed some years ago. Benny has science and hitting power and shows as much proficiency in the art of the boxing game as the old-timers in his class did.

Take the heavyweights, for instance. The class is a joke. Jess Willard appears to stand head and shoulders above any one in sight. Johnny Kilbane is the undisputed featherweight champion. In the welterweights Ted Lewis recently received a decision against Jack Britton. The pair are very evenly matched and it is doubtful if there are any others able to come in at the weight to cause either of the above much annoyance.

In the middleweights Mike Gibbons has some opposition. Still he looks the stand-out of the class. There are at the present time many great fighters, but outside of two or three you cannot find any possessing the all-around prowess in the game shown by the Horton day boxers. In the old Horton days, decisions were given in all bouts by the referees. Today many of the so-called fights are nothing more than boxing exhibitions. A class of real fighters will never materialize out of no-decision bouts.

Christy Mathewson, who manages Cincinnati and does literary work on the side, came out in his weekly story with a statement that he could not see how any team could beat the Giants. And the day the story appeared the Reds showed their contempt for their manager's opinions by winning both games of a double-header from those same Giants. Manager and players should get together. It is not fair to cross Matly that way.

The Cleveland club leads the American league in dealing out shutouts. Both Jim Bagby and Stanley Coveleskie have shown unusual skill in handing out the ciphers this season.

If Tris Speaker expects to beat Ty Cobb out in the fight for the batting crown this season he had better start moving. Ty is acting as if he does not intend to have it close this year.

While Mitchell never gave the Yankees a great amount of trouble when he wore a Cleveland uniform, but as a Tiger Willie has done quite a little fine pitching against Dono-van's team.

The Cincinnati club surely picked up a good ball player when Billy Kopt, discarded by Connie Mack, was purchased from Baltimore. Kopt is a chaser from the outfield and a hitter who is no stranger in the columns where doubles, triples and home runs are marked.

Sam Ross, Bob McGraw and Jack Enright, pitchers sent back to International league clubs by the Yankees so that they might get the needed experience, are showing up very well in Ed Barrow's league. All are likely to be recalled in the fall.

Cincinnati fans are wild over their team and the owners are sure to make a profit on the season. The Reds have all the marks of a real ball club and should be strong pennant contenders next season. Their poor start knocked them out this year.

Baby Doll Jacobson, after failing to win himself a regular berth in his early tryouts as a major leaguer, finally has clinched one. He has played on Fielder Jones's team and plays a fine game in the outfield. Jacobson has plenty of speed for a man of his size.

Al Demaree, well known National league pitcher, has made the circle. He's back with the Giants, the Cubs having traded him to McGraw for Peter Kilduff, recruit infielder purchased last fall from Omaha. Demaree went to Chicago from the Phillies in a trade. The Phillies got him from the Giants.

RUDDOLPH'S ANOTHER WORRY FOR BRAVES

Dick Rudolph, the Boston Braves hurler, has not been winning for the team and the real reason appears to be that he is not in his best shape. The Braves have been in a bad way for pitching all season and Rudolph's failure to go his best has saddened the team quite a bit.

WHITWATER TEAM IN BAD CONDITION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Whitewater, Aug. 6.—After the ball game yesterday when Whitewater was handed a beautiful whipping of 10 to 3 by Watertown, Manager Williams had all suits turned in. The team has been going back lately and lacked pep, and it is not known yet if it will be disbanded or new players secured. About six more games are left on the schedule.

Auto Strikes Boy.
Yesterday morning Charles Pollock was driving his car up Center street, and on making a wide turn to go on Second street struck George Horne, who was on a bicycle and tried to pass in front of the car. Horne was thrown to the ground and his right foot was injured, but it is not believed that there are any bones broken. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Horne and is about eight years old.

A party consisting of Mrs. W. B. Millard, her mother, Mrs. T. D. Ting, Mrs. Truman Millard and I. H. Millard, his wife and son, arrived here Friday for a visit here with his mother. They are making the trip overland and plan to camp on the way.

Gordon Johnson of Waukesha spent Sunday here. Mrs. Anna Redmond of Elgin, Ill., is visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lerwill left Saturday for Salt Lake City, Utah, to visit his brother.

John K. Johnson is spending a few days at Delavan lake.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Coe and two sons arrived from Iron River, Minn., Saturday for a visit here with his mother, Mrs. E. D. Coe.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stone of Minneapolis came yesterday and go with the R. K. Coe family to occupy the home cottage at Turtle Creek, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Campbell, Mrs. Hughes and son and Miss Neva Knecht are occupying the Young cottage at Lauderdale lake this week.

Brodhead, Aug. 4.—Messdames P. R. Burns and K. Grace and Miss Burns were visitors in Jansville Friday.

REAL PEACE TALK.

"Kitchener's predicted three years of war are complete, and there are more fighting units in the world now than when he made his far-sighted prophecy. But British statesmen are in error when they call the peace talk of the German chancellor 'sham.' There can be little doubt that it is eminently sincere. Certainly truth is regarded by German statesmen as a luxury to be used sparingly—as a commodity for the most part. But the desire for peace is unmistakable, even if there is no present prospect of its gratification," says an exchange.

"With the exception of social efforts, like the ridiculous Ford expedition, it will be observed that all peace talk from the time when the German army was turned back by the Marne, has had a German origin. This, of course, has been constantly disclaimed and official endorsement has been carefully withheld. There has, in fact, been always the cheaply shrewd pawn-broking idea of getting the other fellow to bid first. In this class may be included all those proposals from German sympathizers here for the formulation of peace terms by the United States government."

The real danger of the situation cannot be too clearly seen. A compromise peace would be a German victory. It would mean a world in arms, trained to the minute, for the next decade, with another great war in sight whenever German autocracy saw encouraging division among the present allies, and an opportunity to turn to advantage the fearful lessons of the past. This is not a peace that we can countenance, nor would it, in any sense of the word, make the world safe for democracy. That Germany desperately needs peace cannot be doubted. Apart from the reckoning with the German people which the Prussian government may some day face, there is the plain fact of hunger. What was only privation is rapidly becoming famine, and the patriot with paper shoes and an empty belly would be a patriot indeed if he pretended that he liked the condition.

The experienced campaigners tell us that one of the most effective ways of reassuring the young soldier is to show him that the man in the opposite trench is at least equally scared. Thanks to the publicity of democracy, we are well informed upon food and tax conditions in Great Britain or France. We know, with approximate certainty, how onerous those conditions are, and we can assume, with almost equal certainty, that the state of Germany must be many times worse.

"The cry for peace is genuine enough. But what is asked is a German peace, and that is something which civilization, in no case, can afford to grant."

MANY RUMORS.

Rumors are rife relative to the movement of troops southward from the state camp. It is most certain that until the camp at Waco is completed the Wisconsin and Michigan troops will not be sent there. They have comfortable quarters at Camp Douglas and will be equipped and trained before being sent to the south. The best part of the rumor before being sent to some foreign shore, for the special proclamation of the President all the national guard units have been mustered into the federal service and are no longer Wisconsin and Michigan troops, but federal troops. Their places at home are to be taken by organizations of men too old for actual field service, or too young, who will be known as "Home Guards." These men will be drilled and equipped for actual service at various armories throughout the state and be used in case of emergency within the state borders. Janesville plans to have such an organization and enlistment papers are expected daily to perfect the organization of such units. Meanwhile do not pay any attention to rumors that the troops have been ordered south. The facts, as soon as known, will be published, unless for military reasons it is thought best to keep them secret. Meanwhile rest assured that the Rock county boys at Camp Douglas are being well cared for and trained to meet the emergency they enlisted for.

LOCAL BASEBALL.

When Janesville entered the Central State Baseball League last spring it dropped into last place as naturally as would be expected of a new team joining its fortunes with a going concern. It is hard work building up a baseball team and the local management had difficulty in filling important positions at the salaries paid. There were many discouraging features about the first few weeks and then the team began to climb upwards slowly but steadily. Now it is tied for second place and still going. Janesville has reason to be proud of this aggregation and the management is to be congratulated upon the success of their uphill work. Not in years has Janesville been given the class of baseball that is offered at present. That the citizens should turn out and support the team by better attendance is most certain, for men can not play at their best if they do not have the moral support of the community. However, with the Cardinals so near the top now it is to be expected that the next few games will mark a decided increase in the attendance. Help boost your home team.

ONE BY ONE.

That the political pot is at boiling heat in Wisconsin just at present is evidenced by the fact that one by one the former warmest supporters of Senator La Follette are seeing the error of their ways and deserting the standard of the "Boss" and repudiating the leadership of a man whom they criticize in no mild language for his present obstructive and unpatriotic course in the United States senate. The last of the "deserters" is Editor Bloodgood of the Whitewater Gazette, whose patriotism is more prominent than even the collar of "serfdom" could stand.

ing upon Mr. Bloodgood's desertion of the cause of Bobette, says: "Brother Bloodgood, after holding in as long as he could for the sake of auld lang syne, now blows his lid off and notifies the senator that if he expects the future support of his old supporters as a patriotic and loyal man, he must quit obstructing an administration that is carrying the heaviest load of responsibility since Abraham Lincoln was trying to save the union in spite of the copperheads. "And he goes on to say that he can not see how the obstructionist methods of Senator La Follette can show that loyalty which should be expected of every man in public life.

"If an old dyer in the wool, blown in the bottle La Follette man can not see that there is little hope that the rest of us can. We gave it up at the start.

"Bob seems to be alienating his trusty old supporters pretty fast. A decent respect to the patriotism of the state forbids the supposition that he is gaining many new ones. Even the chautauquas, we are told, can not stand him any more. And that is serious."

The American people have always thoroughly understood all the rights that go with democratic government, but not until conscription came along did many of them understand that there were duties also.

One feels subtly flattered at the warmth of affection shown by the cat and dog when one gets home, but that may be due not so much to personal attachment as to weariness with a dry bone diet.

A country minister can earn nearly as much pay as a farm laborer, and at that he usually has to do some farming to feed his family.

The present system of baseball scoring would be much more accurate if it recorded the work players do with their mouths.

Any of the small boys can tell you how the big major league ball teams could win if they didn't play such bonehead ball.

Probably some more people would attend church if the minister would announce the ball score just before the sermon.

ROY E. MOULTON

DOESN'T HE THOUGH.

Oh, what a very pleasant lad is he who, as he goes, will only look to the subtle charm or yet the hidden grace.

In all he meets, in every human face, if we should cry of one, "But ain't he fat?"

Or "What a nose! I'd like to live with that hair!" or "Note his pleasant eyes!"

He goes a happy way, a way of ease. For everything he sees appears to fit we should tattle tales to him a while.

With gossiping the moments to be gaily. He turns away nor will he give us ear. These idle words he does not wish to hear.

And looks of pain upon his features dwell. That seem to say, "Have you no good to tell?"

You've seen perhaps the lad we mean and yet He's rare, forsooth, his likes are seldom met.

In this sad vale indeed it's only true He's seldom seen, the likes of him are few.

Still on the whole, we don't complain of that. Though he is few, we do not sigh in tears. He'll get, we hope, the blessing he deserves.

But Gosh, he surely gets upon our nerves! TODAY'S SNEER.

THE GEEGEN REALTY CO.

(Synopsis of preceding chapters: Nothing in an advertisement an offer made by the Geegen Realty Co. to award a lot at Stonebush-on-the-Swamp to the person supplying the missing letters in the word "Philadelphie." Harvey Wooz devotes his entire time for five months to solving the enigma. He neglects his business, which goes to the wall, and his family, which goes to the dogs. Finally he discovers that the complete word is "Philadelphia" and receives a deed to a 50 by 80 lot at Stonebush-on-the-Swamp. With his wife and seven children the sole surviving members of his family, he moves to Stonebush-on-the-Swamp. He tries to raise potatoes, but they turn to water lilies. He tries to raise carrots, but they drown in infancy and are carried away by vultures. In vain, and just as unsuccessfully, he tries to raise string beans, pickled hams, French hamburgs and sweet-and-sours. Finally he decides to write for information to the Geegen Realty Co.)

Conclusion. Less than a month later he received the following answer: "Dear Sir: In answer to your query as to what can be raised in Stonebush-on-the-Swamp, would say that you can raise minnows, clams and quabogs when the tide is high. Laughingly, The Geegen Realty Co."

Justifiable Deception. The talk had gone back and fro, and the youthful Socialist had been announcing that no man ought to get his living by cheating, and we all listened to him and agreed that it was dreadful when men and women did not tell the truth, but tried to make their living by deceiving people. Millionaires, landowners, financiers, we scolded all of them who cheat the public.

"No one should make a living by deception," said the young man impressively.

Then a quiet voice from a woman came from the corner of the sofa, "What about the conjurer?"—Exchange.

THE LOST LETTER

By CLARA BREVOORT.

Uncle Dick listened for a minute at the foot of the stairs. At last Jimmie was asleep. Evidently the hot water bottle and toothache medicine had done their work, for the moans and groans had stopped. Jimmie's mother had slipped away a few minutes before, leaving Uncle Dick in charge.

"Poor Dick!" she reflected as she departed. "He hasn't been himself since Mary Hempstead went away in the fall. Here it's almost April and he hasn't had any word from her yet. I can't understand it at all. I always had an idea that she promised to give Dick an answer in that letter he's looked for so eagerly and that has never come."

The front door stood open and the breeze came in soft and warm from the south. The sun, too, was as bright and the sky as blue as June.

Near the shed door stood an old fishing rod. Dick walked over and picked it up. The soft wind and blue sky and the whole outdoors were calling him toward the river.

Jimmie and his toothache were forgotten while he made his way down the muddy road with the fishing rod over his shoulder and a bucket of bait in his hand.

As he turned off the road to go through the broken place in the Hempstead's fence, and thence through the hickory grove toward the river, he heard a horse behind him. He turned and looked straight into the startled blue eyes of Mary Hempstead. But while he stood paralyzed, the look in the blue eyes changed instantly, to one of contempt as her horse galloped by.

Mary home! Could it really be the girl who had teasingly promised him his answer in the first letter on her visit West.

He turned blindly toward the river and when he finally reached the place threw himself down dejectedly on a rock and tried to think.

Meanwhile, Jimmie had a nice comfortable nap, thanks to his mother's doctoring and a quiet house, after which he awakened and hopped out of bed, yelling for someone to come and put his clothes on him.

No one answered. Jimmie went down stairs to investigate the silence. There was no one there, but the front door was open and the soft, warm wind that blew in felt delicious. Jimmie went out on to the porch.

What a bully wind for a kite, and here he'd been shut up all day missing it! Suddenly he remembered he had no kite. Yesterday it had hooked on top of the red oak and stuck there. Jimmie started for the tree, the wind blowing his night gown around his bare legs and feet. The soft ground oozed up through his toes and he squealed delightedly. But the water in the creek was cold—too cold to wade through! Ouch!

He knew the very thing! Uncle Ned's boots! Back to the house and into Uncle Ned's room. He knew where the boots were—in a corner of the cupboard. He carried them to the porch and tried to put them on. They were miles too high and too heavy. Out of one boot shot something that had been white. Now it was dirty, wrinkled and twisted. Jimmie grabbed it and tore away the outside. "Well, I'll use this old letter for a kite, if I can't get mine. Where's that string I had?"

The creek and boots were forgotten. Jimmie, still in midnight attire, defied the proprietress and the toothache, by dancing gleefully all over the farm with his homemade kite.

Over in the Hempstead yard Mary was pondering about the look of misery in Dick Randall's eyes as she had passed him. It was almost time to feed the chickens, and she started for the granary.

What in the world could that be tearing along the fence and yelling at something in the air?

Sharp of wit and speedy of limb, Mary soon had little Jimmy in her arms. She wrapped her apron about him and carried him back to her house, the kite trailing on the ground.

"Bless his heart, he's got a letter for a kite," said her mother. Mary grabbed it up suddenly.

"Jimmie, where did you get this?" "Out of Uncle Ned's boots," he giggled. "I just found it!"

Mary made suddenly for the door. A few minutes later Dick heard the twigs breaking near him, but did not look around. It mattered little who was coming.

Suddenly two soft, warm hands covered his eyes and Mary's own sweet voice whispered.

"Guess who it is!" Bewildered, he reached up and touched her hands.

"I've come," she cried gayly, releasing him. "To deliver some belated mail, and after all I think I'm glad you didn't get my letter until now, Dick. I want to see if you look sufficiently happy when you read it. Jimmie just found it in Ned's old boot. He must have dropped it there when he was carrying the mail to the house the day it came, and here I've been wondering and wondering why—"

But Dick had heard enough. Just what Mary had been wondering didn't matter half so much just then as the seal he put upon her willing lips.

What Is the Bible's List of a Lady's Wardrobe?

Curious and Unusual Bible Questions

Look at the picture above, then turn to your Bible and find the answer to the question. The picture illustrates the verse in which the answer will be found.

Each week we will publish an illustrated question from the Bible and the following week publish the answer. See if you can find the answer before we publish it! Make a family pastime of this interesting feature—it will amuse and instruct you.

Last Week's Question and the Answer

Last week's query: "For how long did marriage exempt a man from going to war?" is answered in Deuteronomy, Chapter 24, Verse 5:

"When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business, but he shall be free at home one year, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken."

Ghiberti's Famous Doors.

The world renowned doors of the baptistry at Florence represent nearly the entire life work of Ghiberti. He began the first pair when he was twenty-three years old, and when he finished the second pair he was seventy-three. Excepting the three, statues outside of San Michele and one or two minor works, these two pairs of bronze doors represent his labors for half a century. These doors, declared by Michelangelo "fit to be the gates of paradise," represent the book of Genesis in all the depth of its meaning, and the skill of the artist has never been overpraised. It is impossible to exaggerate the glory of the work.

Housewives---Wash Without Rubbing

Thousands of housewives have quit rubbing their clothes. They absolutely refuse to do any more rubbing on washboards. 500,000 women have found a better, quicker, cheaper, happier way to do the biggest washing. They use N. E. S. Laundry Tablets, which will do the work for you as well, and to introduce this new wizard for washing clothes we are offering a free sample. Address: Farquhar-Moon Mfg. Co., Room 1107, 140 W. Legs That Hear.

One of the strangest and most unexpected of the uses to which we could imagine a leg as being put is that of an organ of hearing. Yet such seems to be one at least of the functions of the fore legs in the cricket. On the outer side of the tibia a small oval space may be seen, in which the strong armature which covers the rest of the body is reduced to a thin and membranous condition, making thus a sort of window or drumhead. Communicating with this, inside the leg, are the ends of a nerve, and it can hardly be doubted, therefore, that the whole apparatus constitutes an auditory organ.

MEMBERS DONATE BIG SUM TO U. B. CHURCH

$5,350 RAISED IN CONGREGATION TO AID IN PAYING OFF INDEBTEDNESS ON THE CHURCH.

HOLD ALL DAY MEETING

Many Distinguished Clergymen From About Country Here for Devotional Services.

A splendid spirit of devoted consecration manifested itself at the all day meeting of the U. B. Church, which was held at the U. B. Church yesterday. Co-operation was evident on the part of everyone, from the out of town speakers, who so gladly gave their time and talents to make of this affair a success, the church members and leaders, who worked faithfully in its interests, and to the Ladies' society, who catered to the material wants of the meeting by preparing bountiful meals. Both dinner and supper were served in the basement of the church, about one hundred and fifty being cared for at noon. That the day was successful more ways than as simply a religious service, was evidenced by the fact that the magnificent sum of $5,350 was raised by pledges during the day to help pay off an indebtedness on the church edifice.

Five hundred dollars of this amount was given by Mrs. Richards, wife of the Rev. F. T. Richards, who is pastor of the church. A memorial service was held at the meeting, having come from her home at Richmond, N. C. that purpose. Besides this generous gift, the sum of $600 was pledged by the Ladies' Society of the church. The rest of the amount pledged was in smaller amounts, after it the children of the Wisconsin school giving their small contributions to help along the cause. Besides the bishop of the district, who was present, and preached the morning sermon, there were many distinguished clergymen from other towns in attendance, some of these being Rev. G. W. Emerson of Toledo, Ohio, Rev. C. H. W. Emerson of Toledo, Ohio, Rev. S. E. Taylor of Richmond Center, superintendent of the conference; Rev. W. B. Gillingham, conference treasurer, also living at Richmond Center; Rev. P. H. Moore and Rev. E. L. Smith of Lima Center were also present, as well as Rev. Ida Marquardt, who is an ordained minister, although not preaching at present. There were also many friends from a distance who had come to join in the services of the day, among them being Carl Smith of Victoria, B. C., the principal feature of the big rally day meetings were the splendid sermons preached by the Rev. H. H. Fout, bishop of the district, who in the morning morning sermon, the topic was "The Mission of the Church," with the text taken from Psalms, chapter 48 and verse 2. "The subject of the afternoon discourse was, "An Epitaph for the World," with the text was chosen from the 9th verse of the 14th chapter of Mark. In the evening the bishop preached to a large audience from the text, "The power of man is this, that even the wind, and the sea, obey him." The text is found in the 4th chapter of Mark, 41st verse.

The only explanation of the life of Christ in the Divinity of it, the speaker said. He belongs to the past, the present and the future. He is accepted as the Christ by the civilized world. He is the central figure of the big rally day meetings were the splendid sermons preached by the Rev. H. H. At the meeting on last evening a chorus choir of twelve voices, directed by Edward Ward, rendered appropriate music. They sang the hymn, "Bless the Lord," and Mr. Ward sang very beautifully a solo, "Just Be Glad." The meeting held on yesterday was a reopening of the church after it has been closed for a brief interval to allow of repairs and redecorations. Electric lighting has been installed, the fixtures being of brass, in the indirect lighting pattern. The coloring of the new decorations is most light and cheerful, being of the cream and white with a delicate tracery of color and with a medallion figure at intervals to lend distinction to the same. The same traits with a groundwork of grey are also in evidence, that on the pulpit being the gift of the members of the choir. At the meeting held on last evening the pastor of the church, Rev. Truesdale, voiced the deep feeling of gratitude felt by the members for the many kindnesses shown them in the reconstruction of the church and in the furtherance of the church in the activities of the church life is to be expected, and the outlook toward continued usefulness in the future is most bright.

SEEK FOUR IN AUTO WHO RAN DOWN INJURED GIRL, SPED ON WITHOUT STOPPING

Four young men in a small automobile, who were not only running down and injuring a little girl riding on a bicycle near Yost park, and failing to stop after the machine had passed over the top of the object, but also speeding on in the direction of the city, were reported to have sped up in the direction of Janesville following the accident.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN FOR PAUL HILL SATURDAY NIGHT

Paul Hill of 606 Locust street, was completely surprised Saturday night when about forty friends invited themselves to his home to celebrate his second birthday. The home was beautifully decorated in flowers and seasonable trimmings. The greater part of the evening was spent in music and games. A well talented quartet composed of Paul Mantheil, Henry Koris, R. Miller and Paul being accompanied on the piano by the Misses Emma Miller and Margie Byer, rendered a number of much appreciated songs. The party broke up at a late hour and all departed wishing Mr. Hill a bright and prosperous future.

UNKNOWN MARKSMAN FINDS LADY VICTIM

Mrs. Edward W. Behrendt Shot Yesterday Morning While Reading Newspaper on Porch of Home.

Rife practice within the city limits on the part of an unknown marksman, seriously, though not fatally, injured Mrs. Edward W. Behrendt yesterday as she sat on the veranda of her home, 200 South Bluff street, reading the Sunday papers. A .22 caliber rifle bullet struck her above the ear and followed a course under the scalp directly toward the eye, traveling an inch and a half before it spent itself.

Neither Mrs. Behrendt nor her husband heard the report of the shot. Where the bullet came from, the police assumed an air of confidence and believed they would perhaps learn, with the calling into the chief's office at four o'clock this afternoon, of a nearby resident who is, they say, "quite handy with a rifle."

Surgeons extracted the bullet shortly after the lady was shot. It is not thought that any serious after effects will arise.

JANESVILLE FAIR HAS RECORD ENTRY IN RACING EVENTS

Over One Hundred and Fifty Fast Horses Have Been Entered in Eleven Speed Events.

With entries for the eleven horse races to be run at the Janesville fair this year, closed, there are more fast horses scheduled to be in the various events than have been secured at any fair in the past. The United States fair for the Janesville fair, states will have this year, it will be not only from the standpoint of exhibitors and the attractions but as a speed event. The hundred and fifty fast horses have been entered in this number are many who devote most of their energies only to the racing circuit. Some of the country's fastest horses and most famous racing men will be on hand. The track records will go by the boards in many of the events. Besides the 150 entries there will be a few extra horses brought in from some of the special events. There will be more than two hundred horses in the fair.

Arrangements are being made for the erection of two tents, to be fitted with stalls and other equipment to house the horses which cannot be accommodated in the regular stalls. It is expected that one of these tents will be sufficient for this year's two hundred and fifty horses in all.

Three of these will be the early closing races, the 2:10, 2:20, and the 2:14 trot. The other eight events are the various classes of harness races. The entry lists were so large, that it is probable they will be broken up into two parts. The first race will be run on Wednesday, Janesville day, four on Thursday, and the last on Friday.

There are many horses at the grounds now, and many more are arriving all the time for a few days' training on the local course before the races start. Dick McMahon, one of the most famous racing men in the country, has a string of horses entered and will probably drive in some of the events.

Tomorrow, further entries will be opened for the convenience of those who desire information regarding the fair. Fred L. Clements has agreed to serve as Harry Nowlan's assistant and will throw his office in the Jackman block open to all fair business. Information can be obtained from him, and entries made there.

Several new arrivals in the livestock entry list insure the greatest exhibit of stock ever gathered at a county fair. One of the best of the breed of Friesian cows, imported to be the finest in this part of the world. This will be the only county fair at which the herd will be shown. Mr. Day, shipping them from the dairy to Iowa State fair, from where they will be sent to the Minnesota State fair and then to the Wisconsin fair. There are at present a good many head of Guernsey cows, two fair grades sent in by exhibitors to get into the ring in the changed conditions, previous to the judging.

A big squad of men went to work today at the fair grounds, getting the grounds into shape and preparing the grounds for the influx of exhibitors, attractions, and the thousand and one things that go to make up a fair of the size of the Janesville fair.

RICHES FOUND IN ODD WAYS

Experiences of Gold Seekers Make Pages of Romance Read Like Very Ordinary Matter.

If every man who washed his own pants discovered a gold mine there would be a slump in washwomen. But that is how the largest nugget ever found in California was turned out.

It was a young Indian who was washing his clothes in a certain stream when this big lump of fortune came his way. Who will say now that virtue—cleanliness, for choice—does not bring its own reward?

The California Eldorado, to which all the world rushed with one accord, was first spotted by a man who went out early one morning to dig onions with a sheath knife, and found gold adhering to the blades.

Talking of sheath knives, they were the favorite means of sifting out gold in the old Bendigo days. The diggers used these knives for many things, and wore them in their belts. They used to dig in their "claims," sifting out bits of gold with the point.

Imagine taking 32 pounds' weight of gold out of a hole in the earth before breakfast! Yet such an experience was common enough.

And a gold mine in New Zealand was discovered by a man who picked up a stone to throw at a wood pigeon!

Modern Parenthood.

Being a parent used to be one of the most simple, natural and inevitable developments in the world. People used to grow up, marry, and raise families—they still do back in the country—and society was satisfied if parents could clothe, feed and exercise a general supervision over their offspring. But nowadays one has no business to be married and have children unless, sleeping and waking, one is conscious of the responsibility. Competent modern parents must supervise the feeding, housing and playing of their children on terms that, if applied a generation ago, would have brought the reproduction of the human race to a dead standstill. And now, responsive to the same forces, competent modern parents must supervise schooling. The schoolmaster is no longer to pursue his own sweet way. Parents are going to inspect him, as they inspect every other factor in the child's life. Modern parenthood has thus become an exacting full-time vocation—that is, persons who enter the profession have no time for other occupations, except the suffrage, and they cut themselves off from all other forms of remunerative and enjoyable activity.—Abraham Flexner in the Atlantic.

Hood's Famous Hoax.

The amusing hoax at Abergevenny reminds a correspondent of one of our historic log-pillings in the same line. One was the great Berners street hoax, engineered by Theodore Hook, and which was so successful that its originator had to clear out of the country for a while.

He sent out from a certain address thousands of orders, invitations, etc., all to eventuate at the same place and hour. The result was that at the time in question the street and the thoroughfares leading to it were choked with traffic, there was a species of riot, and after the "fun" had cleared away the debris made the place look like a battlefield.

An earlier hoax was also perpetrated in London, viz., that on a certain night at a house of entertainment an Italian conjurer—Signor Capittello Jumpero—would perform certain miraculous feats, winding up by climbing into a quart bottle. A huge crowd assembled, and when they found they had been "had" they set to work wrecking the place.—Cardiff Western Mail.

Expanding Opals.

The reason why opals are so often lost from their settings is that they expand with heat more than other precious stones and consequently force open the gold which holds them in place.

Buying is like bee culture—the man who knows how gets honey; the man who doesn't gets stung.—Typographic Messenger.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Ethel Clayton, one of the most promising of the emotional actresses on the screen today, is 27 years old. It doesn't seem possible that one so comparatively young should already be recognized as an actress with real dramatic talent. It is even conceded that there is actual Art with a capital A in her work. This is most unusual because that term has always been applied very grudgingly to all not on the legitimate stage. Perhaps Ethel is thus favored because she started her career on the boards.

Her first appearance was in stock. She played in "The Devil," made famous by George Arliss.

She broke away very soon, however, and made her debut in black and white with the Lubin Producing company. While with this company she appeared in the screen version of that great American drama, "The Great Divide."

Later, she became connected with the world company and has been with them ever since. Some of her more notable releases have been "The House of Mystery," "Broken Chains," "Madness of Helen," and "The Hidden Star."

Ethel stands all of five feet five and a half inches in her bodice slippers and weighs 130 pounds. No, she is not exactly ponderous either. She objects to being called a red-head and so we find her hair described as a golden red, and she has blue eyes which make the proper combination with the hair.

When not acting for the camera she may be found either riding her favorite horse, or swimming, or playing tennis. She is a very active person.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 6.—Automobile owners and other users of gasoline are watching with interest the search work here into a new source of motor fuel which was discovered recently by E. J. Babcock, dean of the School of Mines of the University of North Dakota.

The new fuel which is called "motor spirit" by Dean Babcock, is a volatile oil distilled from lignite coal, great quantities of which exist in North Dakota. It is not exactly the same as gasoline, but is very similar to it both in chemical composition and properties, according to Dr. Babcock.

The discovery was entirely accidental. Dr. Babcock said he was not trying to find a substitute for gasoline, but was merely using a new method of heat treatment of lignite to expel the gas, water and other by-products as a preliminary to briquetting.

Dean Babcock is working over his experiments carefully and will issue a bulletin soon defining his discovery. He would not state what quantities of the fuel could be obtained from a given quantity of lignite coal, but did say, however, that enough of the fuel can be obtained by distillation to warrant a belief that it may have future commercial importance.

The quantity of lignite coal in North Dakota is tremendous, according to the latest government survey which estimates that six hundred billion tons, nearly a thousand times the annual production of coal in the whole United States, lies under the western part of the state.

Washed Over an Isthmus.

In October, 1839, a wonderful marine disaster occurred at Chesil Beach. Ten ships were driven ashore, and nine of them were smashed to firewood. The tenth vessel, a craft of 500 tons, was thrown by a wave over the beach from the West bay and floated off into the smooth waters of Portland Roads. In this voyage—short but extraordinary—she crossed right over the isthmus along which now runs the London and Southwestern line and the King's highway. — Westminster Gazette.

SHOW MOVIES IN ALL BRITISH BATTLESHIPS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Aug. 6.—The latest films, and good ones at that, instead of the flickery eye-straining kind, will be shown to the British sailors in their long, arduous wait for the German fleet to come out and fight. Liverpool citizens established a fund which they placed at the disposal of Admiral Beatty for any purpose he might name and the admiral wrote back:

"I can serve this intention in no better way than by indicating the work of the newly-formed Fleet Cinema committee, organizing moving picture entertainments on each ship. The benefit to the men will be real and lasting and I know of no better means by which their minds can be temporarily withdrawn from the monotony of their surroundings and thereby become refreshed and reinvigorated to renew their work."

What are believed to be the most durable highways in the world have been made in France of a concrete that is composed of iron shavings, cement and sand.

Couldn't Tell.
"Has your pocket ever been picked?" "Really, I don't know. It never was before I got married. If it has been since I got married I would have no way of finding out about it."—Chicago Herold.

Unselfishness.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a broken-hearted girl of eighteen. I have considered a very pretty blonde, blue eyes, small features, and heavy eyebrows.

I have been going with a very nice young man of twenty-one for about a year and I love him. About three weeks ago I had a very foolish quarrel with him. His sister and I went to a park concert with some young men we know and they took us home. My friend told me that this and has not been down to see me since.

I am now engaged to this boy but have kept steady company with him. Can you advise me what to do? I have already called him up, asking for forgiveness, but it does no good. He is now with another girl. I know he doesn't love this girl. I am so lonely without him. I told me that I am the only girl he ever loved.

You did nothing wrong when you went to the concert with the other young man and let him take you home, and you need not apologize. Let the boy go until he can advise you. He has been unwise in his anger. If he does not come back, consider him small to take offense so easily.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lady twenty-two years of age and I spent my vacation at my grandmother's in another state. While I was there I met a very handsome young man who came to see me almost every night. I liked him better than any one I have ever met and he seemed to like me, too. He brought me candy and took me buggy riding and to the picture show. When I left to return home, he promised to write to me often but I haven't heard from him and I miss him very much and want to hear from him. Should I write to him and ask him what is the matter?

DOTTY.

No. If he knows your address and wants to hear from you he will write.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a very dry skin, also a very clear one, but every time I put cream on my face it breaks out. I have used some of the best creams on the market, but without avail. The next morning finds my face nicely "blossomed out." Can you recommend any lotion or preparation that will overcome dryness and still not spoil my complexion?

KEWPIE.

Many harsh skins improve by applying a lotion made from one drachm zinc oxide, levigated, one ounce glycerine, amygdala, and five drops essence amygdala. Apply this every night, after thoroughly washing the skin. If this remedy does not help, consult a physician.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: If a young lady is engaged to be married next month, would it be advisable for her to postpone the date so that her fiancé can go to war and will not be considered a slacker? The date of the wedding has not been announced.

TIDANK YOU.

You ought to wait and not marry this year. Conditions are so unsettled that it would be unwise for you to get married now.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My hair is falling. What can I do for this?

S. K.

Make a tonic of one ounce of each of the following: one ounce of spirits of rosemary, and two ounces of alcohol. Apply several times a week to the roots of the hair.

ARIZONA WOMAN'S PRANK IN KHAKI
COST HUSBAND HIS CORPORAL'S RANK

Mrs. Hazel Carter as a soldier and as herself.

Mrs. Hazel Carter, of Douglas, Ariz., whose husband was a corporal in the army, almost got into the trenches in France, but not quite. She failed, and her prank cost her husband his rank. She slipped her husband a regular army uniform and got half way to France before she was discovered. She was not permitted to land on the other side, and was sent back on the first returning ship.

FOR BABY
Home-Made High Chair—Remove the top of an apple box and the top and one side of a cracker box. Stand the apple box on end and place the cracker box on top and nail securely. This makes a splendid high chair for a child, as it brings the child in exactly the height to get from the table. Such a chair can be made quite attractive by covering with art burlap, using brass-headed tacks.

Baby Coop—After baby is old enough to sit alone, take a box top and one-half by three feet long. Pad inside and over edge of top and tack a curtain around outside. Baby is always safe when left alone and the top of box to attach playthings. As baby grows older he will learn to walk in this same box, as he is not afraid of falling.

PLAIN VARIETY IN FOODS.
Do not serve several foods of the same composition at the same meal, such as potatoes, rice and macaroni. They are all starch foods and do not give variety to the system. Food can often take the place of medicine. Eat a variety at every meal and give the system all kinds of materials to build on.

THE TABLE.
Spaghetti a la Italian—Put on the fire a kettle with lots of water, salted. Cut onion in half. Put in the water also grease drippings of beef the size of a large egg. Be sure the water is bubbling before you put the spaghetti in the bottom while you put in the spaghetti; if this is done it will not settle and stick to the bottom of the kettle. Now let cook fully thirty minutes, if then it does not cook, stir with spoon or fork it is done. If spaghetti breaks lengthwise, it is not of good quality. For a package of spaghetti use a bottle of tomato sauce, or take one can of good tomato sauce and one can of spaghetti. Place on fire with a little butter, cook, thicken with a little flour and water and season to taste. Put spaghetti into this sauce, then add one-half pound Parmesan or Edam cheese grated; salt and paprika to taste. Let cook about ten minutes, serve hot. A little cracker dust should be sifted over the top.

Spiced Cauliflower—Soak in cold salted water, top downwards, for one hour, then cook in boiling salted water till tender. Cut in small pieces. Add grated cheese, cover with butter, cracker crumbs and bake till crumbs are brown.

Egg Island—Beat whites of eggs beaten stiff. Boil one quart milk, put stiff eggs in the milk for one minute, be careful not to stir, but turn slowly over, then take it out and put it on a dish. Leave the milk in the kettle.

Sauce for Egg Island—Beat yolks, two teaspoons sugar, one quart boiling milk which was used for the whites.

Spice Cake—Cream together one-half cup butter and one-half cup brown sugar. Stir in yolks of three eggs. Dissolve one teaspoon soda in one-half cup sour milk. Add one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one and one-half teaspoons cinnamon, two cups flour, Beat and stir in whites of eggs last. This makes a large three-layer cake. Spread with jelly or icing between layers.

One-Egg Lemon Pie—Beat one egg, one lemon, one and one-half tablespoons flour. Mix to creamy consistency with cold water. Have the pie shell first part; let boil. Beat white of egg very stiff, add table-spoon sugar and spread on top. Place in oven a few minutes to brown.

EVERYDAY
ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

Announcements are sent out after a wedding by the parents of the bride, and from this notification no one who has the slightest acquaintance with the bride or groom is excluded.

Mrs. K. It is quite proper for you to remove your hat on the train when traveling any distance. Porters in the Pullman cars often provide large paper bags to slip the ladies' hats into. In order to keep them out of the dust, Club Woman: Since the club which gave you a present when you retired from office is a small one, I should write a short note to each member and send it by mail. It might be in this order: My Dear Mrs. X: I wish to thank you most heartily for your share in the lovely vase presented by the Z club. I feel that it is far more than I deserve; still it is gratifying to know that you hold me in such high regard. The vase will be a constant reminder of the valued friendship of each one of you, and my pleasant association with the club. Most gratefully yours, etc.

For Lima beans, take them from pods, remove surface moisture and dry them from three to three and one-half hours. This same method answers for other beans. It also includes cow peas or other field peas. Dry young, tender okra pods, cut into one-fourth inch slices. These may be strung as with string beans and hung over the stove. If so dried, heat in oven before hanging. Dry split peas on one side, removing seed, drying in the air and finishing the drying in the dried at 140 F. A more satisfactory plan is to place peppers in biscuit pan, remove the seeds, and dry in the oven until skin softens, then take out and seed and dry at 110 to 140 F.

For beans and turnips, select young, tender, quick growing ones. Wash, peel, slice one-eighth inch thick and dry. Slice carrots lengthwise, avoiding those with large, woody cores. Parsnips, kohlrabi, celery and salsify are handled the same way. Select matured onions, remove papery covering, cut off tops and roots, slice into one-eighth inch pieces and dry quickly. Store in airtight proof container to avoid discoloration. Leeks are so handled also.

Select well developed cabbage, remove loose leaves, split cabbage, remove woody core, slice with slicer and dry. All these products should be conditioned.

For asparagus, remove leaves from roots, wash carefully, slice and spread on trays and dry. Treat parsley the same way.

For beet tops, Swiss chard and celery should be in condition edible as greens. Wash carefully, cut both leaf stalks and leaves into one-fourth inch sections, spread and dry.

Choose young, succulent rhubarb. Don't use the leaf blade. Prepare as for stewing, by skinning and cutting to one-fourth inch sections in lengths. Select sound, well matured Irish potatoes. Wash and boil or steam until nearly done. Peel and pass through meat grinder. Collect the shreds on a large and dry unit brittle. If toasted slightly in oven when dry the flavor is improved. Or you may boil, slice and dry. Handle sweet potatoes the same way. Or boil and slice.

Clean cauliflower, divide into small bunches, blanch six minutes, and dry two to three hours. Don't worry if it turns dark in drying. Handle Brussels sprouts the same way, but add a pinch of soda to the bleaching water. For pumpkins and squash, select sound, grown specimens. Cut into strings, remove all seeds and string around them. Cut strips into pieces and dry. Be sure to condition all these things.

Celery tops, parsley, mint, sage and herbs need not be blanched, but should be washed and dried well and stored in the sun or oven.

Early varieties and sweet apples are well adapted to drying. Use winter apples. These instructions apply also to pears and quinces. Peel, core and slice one-fourth inch thick. Dip in weak salt water containing eight teaspoonfuls of salt to one gallon water. Spread on trays and dry till tough and leathery.

Our imperfect raspberries, spread selected berries on trays and dry; not so dry they rattle. Stop drying when berries don't stain the hand when pressed. This applies to blackberries, huckleberries and dewberries.

Peaches are dried better when peeled. Remove stone, cut fruit in

HEALTH TALKS

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

THE DACHSHUND CRAWL

People with slight spinal curvature, and they are much more frequent than is generally supposed, but the condition goes unrecognized because clothing is too much affected in the doctor's consulting room—are apt to have defective chest expansion, flat chest, a posture of weakness.

One of the best exercises for the straightening of the spine and the expansion of the chest is the dachshund crawl, suggested by Kienbo.

The patient kneels, with thighs perpendicular to floor and elbows bent so that the arms imitate the bow-legs of a dachshund, while the head is bent far back so that the spine is above the level of the shoulders and the upper part of the spine is humped some. One arm is advanced and stretched forward, the other arm touching the floor. Then the other arm in like manner. If you have a dog he'll growl at you. But never mind that. Just travel about three times across the room in this dachshund fashion, the exercise loosens up the bones of the spine and tends to correct any twist there. But more important, it expands the chest, or permits it to expand, and forces the lungs to be encouraged in children with weak, undeveloped chest.

Creeping in this dachshund posture is also a useful exercise for those who have intestinal stasis from any cause. It may be a fairly good substitute for the more strenuous somersaults in the event that a somersault is beyond the patient's physical capacity. We trust no reader who tries this dachshund crawl will write to tell us she was made dizzy or sick by it, or that her neck was broken. It is a comparatively innocuous pastime, practically foolproof.

Speaking of expanding the chest, the idea has long since been discarded that the amount of chest expansion has any particular relation to the strength or endurance of physical strength. It seems that women naturally breathe with the costal type of respiration, that is, with the upper chest; while men naturally breathe with the abdominal type. Sometimes this state of affairs becomes reversed, for what reason I do not know. But the victim complains of "catching the breath" every little while. Sometimes there are complaints of backache.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Chased the Pimples, Now for the Rest.

I have been bothered with acne for about two years, but thanks to your good advice the pimples are about gone now. Would appreciate very much if you will print something about the cure of blackheads. (M. F. W.)

Answer—Wash the face with doses of cotton moistened with alcohol or cologne water following a thorough bathing with very hot water for ten minutes every day. Then gently massage with fingers, using fresh cream or a massaging cream if desired.

Fried Eggs and Beer.
My brother is drinking a little beer each day, having been told it would fatten him. He also eats fried eggs once and sometimes twice a day. Do you approve of such methods? (M. V.)

Answer—The nutriment in a glass of the best beer ever made fades into insignificance beside the nutriment in a glass of indifferent market milk. A young fellow nibbling at his beer every day is taking a big risk of acquiring a habit that will ruin him ultimately. A man eating fried eggs twice a day, but if the desire is to grow fat, the eggs will never satisfy it. A lunch of bread and milk at bedtime every night will fatten brother up, but will vary the monotony now and then by handing him a two-hand piece of mine, apple or custard pie with his night lunch.

The Waste of War is terrible, but the waste of food in times of peace is colossal. Rich and poor alike eat tons of food that has little food value—and this useless food breaks down the so-called eliminating organs and depletes the physical and mental powers.

THE BUSINESS GIRL WHO IS OFFICIOUS.

(By Blanche Deaper.)

Everybody liked Helen when she was just simply a salesgirl in the home department. She was willing, courteous and obliging. She was always agreeable to everybody and did her very best to please.

But Helen, the department head, was not at all the same girl as Helen, the salesgirl. She was quite a different individual. Instead of the courteous, likable girl who had been before, she immediately acquired an air of superiority, so overbearing to all her associates as to make her at once most unamiably disliked. She became officious in every sense of that disagreeable word, and never failed to make the most of an opportunity to reprimand the salesgirl, particularly if the opportunity presented itself when there were customers present.

Nor did her officiousness end with her associates. She was quite as authoritative in her dealings with customers.

In short, her small taste of propriety had gone to her head. She was no longer content to carry it. She had been intoxicated by it.

HER IDEA OF UNSELFISHNESS.
A woman told me the other day that she was tired of being unselfish because it doesn't pay. A rather inconsistent statement, wasn't it?

It set me to thinking about how many kinds of unselfishness there are besides the real, simple pure, ruby rare article.

Because unselfishness doesn't pay.
Because first place there's that bargaining unselfishness (pardon my abuse of the noble word) that his woman so aptly illustrated. Every now and then one hears people brag of their unselfishness through doing things for others because they find that others won't do as much for them. And yet if you had ventured to question if the things they were doing for them were unselfish since they were done in the hope of a return they would surely have been hopping mad.

And then there's the irritable unselfishness that can never renounce without being unselfish. I caught myself at this the other day. I was sending away an expensive present. It was something I had long wanted myself. And as I put my card in with the gift I found myself thinking, "I give it up anyway, and I wear it," and then I caught a glimpse of my own ugliness of spirit and had the decency to be ashamed.

And of course there's the nervous, fussy unselfishness that gives so of discomfort. For instance, the hostess who is continually at you with, "Now isn't there something I can do for you?" I am so afraid you aren't comfortable.

Comeback Unselfishness.
An then there's what I call the "comeback unselfishness," that is, that of the time gives over and then "I give up anyway," and I wear it," and then I caught a glimpse of my own ugliness of spirit and had the decency to be ashamed.

I sometimes think I prefer a feelplacid, selfish, happy people to this variety.

Unselfishness is the most beautiful thing in the world. And correspondingly rare. It is found of ten in mothers, maiden aunts and once in a lifetime in friend.

And one ounce of it is worth a thousand pounds of the imitation variety.

FOLKS.

In spite of the striving,
The scheming, the contriving,
The mad, helter, skelter
For riches and fame;
In spite of the passion
For raiment of fashion,
The mad pursuit of all of us
Here is the same,
And rich man and poor man
And wise man and fool man,
The great man and the humble,
The dull man and the smart
When taken together
Are all of one feather,
There isn't much difference

The colored blunked twice and swallowed hard.
"Say, John," he said, leaning across the table-top, "you've sure got your nerve with you. Do you know our present bank balance is under five thousand dollars, and a good part of that is owing to the cement people?"
"Never mind; don't get nervous," was the reassuring rejoinder. "We are going to make it bigger in a few minutes, I hope. Who is your banker here?"
"Dave Kinzie of the Brewster City National."
"Tell me a little something about Mr. Kinzie before we go down to see him; just brief him for me as a man, I mean."

The colored was shaking his head slowly.
"He's what you might call a twenty-ton optimist," Dave said, a little slow and sure, but the bluntest blunder in the West, if you can get him started—helpless in the resources of the country and all that. But you can't borrow money from him without security, if that's what you're aiming to do."
"Can't you?" smiled the young man who knew banks and bankers. "Let's go and see. You may introduce me to Kinzie as your netting financial secretary, if you like. Now one more question: What is Kinzie's attitude toward Timanyoni Ditch?"

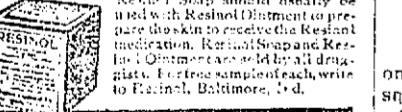

"At first he was all kinds of friendly; he is a stockholder in a small way. But after a while he began to cool down a little, and now—well, I don't know; I have to think it of Dave, but I'm afraid he's leaning the other way, toward these Eastern fellows. He tried to cover Stanton's tracks in the stock-buying from Gardner and Bolling."

"That is natural, too," said Smith, whose point of view was always unobscured in any battle of business. "The big company would be a better customer for the bank than your little one could ever hope to be. I guess that's all for the present. If you're ready, we'll go down and face the music."

"By Janders!" said the colored with an open smile; "I believe you'd just as soon tackle a banker as to eat your dinner; and I'd about as soon take a horsewhipping. Come on; I'll steer you right now so that the steering is about all you can count on from me."

It was while they were crossing the street together that Mr. Crawford

Stanton had his third morning caller, a thickset, barrel-bodied man with little piglike eyes, closely cropped hair, a bristling mustache, and a wooden leg of the homemade sort. The men of the camps called the cripple "Peg-leg" or "Blue Pete" indifferently, though not to his face. For though the fat face was always relaxed in a good-natured smile, the crippled seagoonkeeper was of those who kill with the knife.

Stanton looked up from his desk when the pad-and-click of the cripple's step came in from the street.

"Hello, Simms," he said, in curt greeting. "Want to see me? Sit down."

Simms threw the brim of his soft hat up with a backhanded stroke and shook his head. "It ain't worth while; and I gotta get back to camp. I blew in to tell y'a there's a fella out there that needs th' sandbag."

"Who is it?"

"Fella name? Smith. He's showin' 'em how to cut too many corners—once-settin', he calls it. First thing they know, they'll get the concrete up to where the high water won't bust it out."

Stanton's laugh was impatient.

"Don't make any mistake of that sort, Simms," he said. "We don't want the dam destroyed; we'd work just as hard as they would to prevent that. All we want is to have other people think it's likely to go out—think it hard enough to keep them from putting up any more money. Let that go. Is there any more fresh talk—among the men?"

Stanton pried himself a little upon the underground wire-pulling which had resulted in putting Simms on the ground as the keeper of the construction-camp canteen. It was a fairly original way of keeping a listening ear open for the camp gossip.

"Little," said the cripple briefly. "This here blink-blank fella Smith's been tellin' Williams that I ort to be run off th' reservation; says th' booze puts the brake on for speed."

"So it does," agreed Stanton musingly. "But I guess you can stay a while longer. I have a notion that Smith's been sent here—by some outfit that means to buck us. If he hasn't any backing—"

The interruption was the hurried coming of the young man with sleepy eyes and the cigarette stains on his fingers, and for once in a way he was stirred out of his customary attitude of cynical indifference.

"Smith and Colonel Baldwin are over under in Kinzie's private office," he reported hastily. "Before they shut the door I heard Baldwin introducing Smith as the new acting financial secretary of the Timanyoni Ditch company."

"We are not going to cut very deeply into your time this morning, Mr. Kinzie," he began when the eye-appraisal had given him his cue. "You know the history of Timanyoni Ditch up to the present, and—well, to cut out the details, there is to be a complete reorganization of the company on a new basis, and we are here to offer to take your personal allotment of the stock off your hands at par for cash, Colonel Baldwin has stipulated that his friends in the original deal must be protected, and—"

"Here, here—hold on," interrupted the bank president; "you're hitting it up a little bit too fast for me, Mr. Smith. Who are you, and whereabouts do you hold forth when you are at home?"

Smith laughed easily. "If we were trying to borrow money of you, we might have to go into preliminaries and particulars, Mr. Kinzie. We are not alone in the fight for the water rights on the other side of the river, as you know, and until we are safely fortified we shall have to be prudently cautious. What we want to know now is this: Will you let us protect you by taking your Timanyoni Ditch stock at par?"

Kinzie met the issue fairly. "I don't know you yet, Mr. Smith; but I do know Colonel Baldwin, here, and I guess I'll take a chance on things as they stand. I'll keep my stock."

"We Are Not Going to Cut Very Deeply."

going to tell you frankly that you'll keep it at your own risk. I am not sure what plan will be adopted, but I assume it will be authorization and a retirement of the stock of the original company. The voting control of the old stock we already have, as you know."

The banker pursed his lips until the stubby gray mustache stood out stiffly. Then he cut straight to the heart of the matter.

"You mean that there will be a majority pool of the old stock, and that the pool will ignore those stockholders who don't come in?"

"Something like that," said Smith pleasantly. And then: "We're going to be generously liberal, Mr. Kinzie; we are giving Colonel Baldwin's friends a fair chance to come in out of the wet. Of course, if they refuse to come in—if they prefer to stay out—"

Kinzie was smiling sourly.

"You'll have to take care of your own banker, won't you, Mr. Smith?" he asked. "Why don't you loosen up and tell a little more? What have you fellows got up your sleeve, anyway?"

At this, the new financial manager slacked off on the hawser of secrecy a little—just a little.

"Mr. Kinzie, we've got the biggest thing, and the surest, that ever came to Timanyoni Park; not in futures, mind you, but in facts already as good as accomplished. If it were necessary—as it isn't—I could go to New York to-day and put a million dollars behind our reorganization plan in twenty-four hours. You'd say so yourself if I were at liberty to expiate. But again we're dodging and wasting your time and ours. Think the matter over—about your stock—and let me know before noon. It's rather cruel to hurry you so, but time is precious with us—and—"

"You sit right down there, young man, and put a little of this precious time of yours against mine," said Kinzie, pointing authoritatively at the chair which Smith had just vacated. "You mustn't go off at half-cock, that way. You'll need a bank here to do business with, won't you?"

Smith did not sit down. Instead, he smiled genially and fired his final shot.

"No, Mr. Kinzie; we shan't need a local bank—not as a matter of absolute necessity. In fact, on some accounts I don't know but that it would be better for us not to have one."

"Sit down," insisted the bank president; and this time he would take no denial. Then he turned abruptly upon Baldwin, who had been playing his part of the silent listener letter-perfect.

"Baldwin, we are old friends, and I'd trust you to the limit—on any proposition that doesn't ask for more than the straight-from-the-shoulder honesty I have in this young friend of ours talking through his hat?"

"Not any, whatever, Dave. He's got the goods," Baldwin was wise enough to limit himself carefully as to quantity in his reply.

DEHAVAN

Delavan, Aug. 4.—Mrs. Ira Bean passed away at one o'clock today at her home on South Second street of congestion of the lungs. Mrs. Bean was born in New York and was married in 1873. Since then she had made her home in Delavan with the exception of one year spent in Geneva. She was sixty-six years of age and leaves to mourn her death her husband and four children. Alas for the tragedies of humble life! Jim Shapard has been covered with gloom of late.

"What's up, old chap?" queried his lifelong chum, Fred Elliot. "The lovely Laura decided she can live without you."

CITY MAN AND COUNTRY ROADS

Bad Roads Cost Townspeople a Heavy Toll.

INCREASE THE FOOD COSTS

People Living in Cities Should Have a Real Personal Interest in the Good Roads Problem, Because Poor Highways Mean a Considerable Increase in the Cost of Living.

Some persons living in cities say they have no interest in road building; that they have their hands full trying to keep the city streets in fair condition. "Let the sticks build their own roads if they want them," is the attitude taken.

When the average townsman dresses in the morning a large part of the clothes he puts on are made of cotton, which has to be transported over a good many miles from the plantations to the shipping points. If he has fruit, cereal, eggs and trout for breakfast, let us say, about everything he eats has been hauled over several miles of roads either to be shipped to him or to the mills where it is prepared for shipment. A large part of the furniture in his home and at his office has been made from hardwood hauled over the roads. These and other things which anybody can list for himself must all vary in price to the townsman with the cost of hauling them from the farms and forests to the mills or railroad stations. Just what this fact means has been stated by J. E. Pennypacker, the highway economist of the United States office of public roads, as follows:

"The public roads throughout the country, which constitute the primary means of transportation for all agricultural products, for many millions of tons of forest, mine and manufactured products, and which for a large percentage of farmers are the only avenues of transportation leading from the point of production to the point of consumption or rail shipment, have been improved to only a slight extent. By reason of this fact the prevailing cost of hauling over these roads is about 23 cents per ton mile. More than 350,000,000 tons are hauled over these roads each year, and the average haul is about eight miles, from which it can readily be seen that our annual bill for hauling over the public roads is nearly $500,000,000. The cost per ton mile for hauling on hard surfaced roads should not exceed 13 cents. It is therefore evident that if our roads were adequately improved a large annual saving in the cost of hauling would result."

The difference between 23 and 13 cents is 10 cents, which is the ton mile tax of poor roads which the city people pay, for most of the hauling is toward markets or shipping points, and the cost of this hauling is part of the total expense of producers of the land to the consumer. The total is about $250,000,000.

Poor roads put a much more serious drain on the townsman's pocketbook, however. His food is costing him more every year, and he therefore has a very close personal interest in having the agricultural lands farmed in such a way that they yield their largest returns at the lowest working cost. This means more than producing milk and vegetables at a low cost; it also includes raising at a low expense the wheat and corn from which his flour and meal are made, producing fowls and hogs economically and reducing the cost of growing cotton. How many intelligent young men able to earn a good living in a city will live in the country if they have to travel through miles of mud or dust at decided physical discomfort in order to market their products, meet their friends or buy their supplies? How many young women will be willing to live in the country, where bad roads isolate them, with only the sparrows for companions, with the doctor almost inaccessible, the schools hard for the children to reach and churchgoing a real labor? Yet if the townsman is to have the things he eats grown for him efficiently and economically he must take his part in making country life agreeable and profitable to these intelligent young people. It means a saving of dollars and cents to him.

SAFE FARMING

FLOW EARLY FOR WINTER WHEAT

By P. G. HOLDEN.

THE preparation of the seed bed for winter wheat should begin at the earliest possible moment. The ideal time to plow for fall wheat sowing is in July. Wheat needs a fine, firm seed bed with plenty of moisture, and a seed bed of this kind cannot be prepared after late plowing in time for sowing wheat. Plowing should be done in time to allow the soil to settle and to be worked down to re-establish capillary action so the young wheat plants will not go down to winter in a weakened condition.

Ground that is plowed late in the fall, unless it should be a very wet season, seldom contains sufficient moisture for the successful growing of wheat and it is apt to heave in winter, thus injuring and often totally destroying the stand of wheat.

Plow in July for Fall Wheat—Don't Put it Off—Plow Deeper Than in Spring Plowing.

ing around, waiting for it to dry up. If we haven't time to plow the whole field, we can plow portions of it at intervals during odd hours.

Get Into Field Soon.

Possible the field, which we expect to sow to wheat, has a crop of oats on it. We think we must wait until the oats are hauled off before we can do anything toward getting the ground in shape for wheat. But we can save much valuable time if we place the shocks in rows. This will enable us to start plowing between the rows. At all events we should get into the field just as soon as the oats are off.

Many timothy and clover meadows will be planted to wheat this fall. They should be plowed just as soon as the hay crop has been harvested. We must remember that it takes time to prepare the kind of a seed bed wheat should have.

In early fall plowing it is a good plan to plow deeper than we do in the spring. It is best not to leave the field until we have harrowed what we plowed during the day. And we should follow up this work by harrowing after every rain.

This will conserve the moisture and give us a fine, firm seed bed. We should never let the ground remain rough, as that results in the loss of much needed moisture.

SECOND REGIMENT BADGER INFANTRY AT CAMP DOUGLAS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 6.—The second regiment of infantry, composed of 2,000 men, moved into Camp Douglas today, and tonight there will be 10,000 Wisconsin soldiers tenting on the Juneau county military field. The additional 5,000 men will be moved to Camp Douglas as soon as the companies can be furnished supplies. Adjutant General Orlando Holway said today that he expected that the additional men would be moved to camp this week.

The second regiment of infantry which went into camp today is composed of Company A, Marshfield; B, Oshkosh; C, Sheboygan; D, Ripon; E, Fond du Lac; F, Oshkosh; G, Appleton; H, Manitowish; I, Marinette; K, Beaver Dam; L, Rhinelander; and M, Oconto. The headquarters company of the second regiment of infantry comes from Ashland and a supply company from Green Bay. There was on the Camp Douglas military field before the second regiment arrived today the first regiment of infantry; the first regiment of field artillery; the first regiment of cavalry; the first battalion of engineers; the first battalion of signal corps; the first and second ambulance companies; the first and second field hospitals and Company H, fourth infantry, with the headquarters company of the fourth, Company C, fifth infantry, with the sanitary detachment of the fifth, and Company B, sixth infantry, with the sanitary detachment of the sixth.

Before the second regiment was received in Camp Douglas today there were approximately 8,000 men on the grounds, said Colonel John G. Sullivan. The balance of the fourth, fifth and sixth regiments will be sent into camp later. We do not know when. There will soon be 10,000 men on the military field.

The fourth infantry, which is still to be called, is composed of Company A, Chippewa Falls; B, Stanley; C, Wausau; D, Black River Falls; E, Wisconsin Dells; F, Sheboygan; G, Andover; H, Cranston; I, Platteville; K, Stoughton; L, Edgerton; M, Wausau; N, Kenosha; headquarters company and band from Chippewa Falls; machine gun company from Cornish; and supply company of Waterloo.

The fifth infantry is composed of the following companies: A and B, C, Milwaukee; D, Hartford; E, Watertown; F, Sheboygan; G, Berlin; H, Chilton; I, Milwaukee; K, Milwaukee; L, Wausau; M, Fond du Lac; headquarters and machine gun company, Milwaukee; and supply company of Port Washington.

The sixth infantry is composed of Company A, Phillips; B, Superior; C, Mellen; D, Washburn; E, Spooner; F, Rice Lake; G, Ashland; H, Hayward; I, Baraboo; K, Marshfield; L, Gatesville; M, New London; headquarters company, Superior; machine gun company, Durand; and supply company of Park Falls.

Applying Physics in a Street Car. One of the fundamental theories you were taught in your high school physics class will save you a lot of trouble every day if you apply it.

Strap hangers in the street cars lurch forward when the car stops and backward when it starts. It is inconvenient, especially if a 200 pounder hits you. Remember that place in the physics text, "To every action there is an opposite and equal reaction."

Well, apply it. When the car stops lean toward the rear. When it starts lean toward the front.

You lurch because you're the opposite reaction to the car's movement. Simple and practical, isn't it?—Columbus Dispatch.

PILLAGING RECORDS KEPT BY GERMANS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

With the French Armies, Aug. 6.—Documentary evidence has just been secured by the French military authorities establishing that Germany's toughest classes of 19 and 20-year-old troops participated in the pillaging and destroying of French villages that preceded the German retreat of last March.

The following diary found on a German prisoner of the class of 1917 illustrates the mental attitude of these German bay soldiers towards the "military necessity" of sacking and ruining villages and private property:

Dec. 1.—Towards evening, pillage excursion to nearby village.

Dec. 20.—Preparatory inspection by Capt. Otto. During afternoon "sacked" different sorts of colors, oils and pinchers. Carried away as souvenirs several beautiful cups.

Dec. 23.—Painted signs. Pillaging excursion.

Dec. 24.—Forenoon, still more pillaging. Carried away all sorts of colors, also wine. Afternoon, Christmas feast. We were given some small presents. Sent four packages, one containing Christmas souvenirs, two containing a cup and glass each (all pillaged) and the third a little leather. The lieutenant made us a beautiful discourse.

Jan. 14.—Afternoon at Chauny. There is mighty little left there.

Feb. 21.—We have received orders to destroy all wagons and vehicles that remain at Grandun, to render them useless by sawing them. We destroyed ten.

Feb. 22.—All of the beds, springs and mattresses have been gathered together at Grandun to be sent into Germany.

March 6.—Worked at an artillery position in the vicinity of Sinceny. Sinceny is in ruins. The villages, including Chauny, are all in flames. All of the fruit trees have been sawn down.

March 12.—Worked on the roads. Nearly all of the houses of Biachon, court including the tower of the church, have been blown up by a mine.

March 17.—At 8:30 we departed from Fressancourt for Mortiers, via Verigny. We arrived at Mortiers at 4:30. No comment especially. It is now five days since we have received bread.

The best that history gives us is the enthusiasm it arouses.—Goethe.

FERGUSON OUT FOR THIRD TERM

Gov. James F. Ferguson.

Indicted on nine counts charging mishandling of public funds, Gov. James F. Ferguson of Texas has launched his candidacy for a third term in the state capital. Accepting the indictments of himself and three other state officials as a challenge from political opponents, he has abandoned his intention to be a candidate for the United States senate and decided to go to the people of Texas on the issues involved.

Game Fishing

FLY TACKLE FOR BEGINNER.

My Dear Buck:

You want to get into the fly-casting game, but you feel that the price of an outfit is high. That all depends, old man, on how you go about it. You have heard so much about rods at $25 to $50 and so on, that it makes you feel sick when you think of practicing on such high priced tackle. You expect to give the tackle some hard knocks before you get the hang of the sport and you see your bankroll with a healthy case of shrinkage during the operation.

For a starter there is no need of going deeper into the mint for an outfit than say $15 to $18 and if you do feel like playing her a little higher, $25 makes a limit, and at that you can get a good serviceable outfit that will take you through the season and give you a working practice that will make you a "stay-for-eure" fly-caster.

Select Rod With Care.

Of course every fellow wants as fine an outfit as he can select after he's in the game and has the rough edges worn off. A rod for instance should have the same consideration that one gives to the selection of a shotgun or rifle. It takes the same place in the fishing kit that the gun does in the hunting layout. A fellow pays a good price for a gun, he selects the best he can get and in mighty particular about the drop—the bore and all details, because he depends on his gun to stand him well at the right moment. Therefore as the rod holds the same value to the fisherman, the care in selection and the money put into the rod covers a big vital point in the outfit.

However, for a starter we can select a well made and serviceable line of tackle at a very moderate cost. Here is an outfit, from which a selection can be made at either end, as to price, and it will cover tackle good enough for any beginner. You can buy the $5 rod or the $10 one or go anywhere between, and you will get good value as far as service goes.

Outfit for the Beginner.

Fly rod of split bamboo or steel, $5 to $10.

Reel, single action, click, $1 to $5.

Enameled waterproof silk line, $1.50.

Half dozen 6 foot gut leaders, $1.25.

Two dozen artificial flies, about eight patterns, $2.

Fly book, $1.50.

Wicker creel or basket, $2.

Landing net (folding), $1.25.

Leader box, 25c.

In selecting your rod, make it a 9 to 9½ foot in length, 5 ounce weight, three piece with extra tip, snake guides. German silver ferrules and solid metal reel seat. The rod when together should turn around in the hand with exactly the same drop all around. It should show an even curve without looping over to one side and have plenty of action when you whip or bend it.

The line should be enameled waterproof silk, level braided size E. Here you can go a little deeper if you wish and get a double tapered line, which being lighter at the ends makes less friction in going through the guides and enables you to shoot out the line for greater distance in your casts; however a level braided line will answer the purpose.

The reel is not as important in fly-casting as in bait-casting, as it is merely used to store surplus line. The featherweight, 60-yard size, weighing 2 ounces, makes a good all round reel, while the automatics are coming into use to a greater extent each season.

Flies You Swear By.

Whip a stream for a few hours trying every fly in your kit without a rise, when the fish are "off," and then pick a fly at the window when they happen to be "on" and get a well-filled creel and you will play that fly clean across the board, until the same thing happens over again with another fly. One well-known fisherman who carries in his kit an assortment of about a dozen flies, admits that in the past five years he has seldom used other than three flies and he is some fisherman at that, not the porch variety.

For the eight patterns to go with the above outfit let it go to Coachman, Professor, Queen of Waters, Cow Dung, Brown Hackle, Silver Doctor, McInty and Emerson Hough Bucktail. This last named fly is a new one to most trout fishermen, but it sure is a killer. It isn't a very fancy looking cuss, just an ordinary sort of a fly that don't shine up alongside of the dainty looking feathery affairs, but to those who have used it, it holds the first place in their fly book, because it is certainly some creel filler.

With the above tackle, Buck, you can have many pleasant days on the trout streams and feel that you are learning a game that has added at tractions every time you play it.

Chickens breathe 8,273 cubic feet of air in twenty-four hours for every 1,000 pounds of live weight, while men require only 2,833 cubic feet and cattle but 2,804; hence for poultry ventilation is a matter of first importance.

HUGE GUNS THAT SHOOT MANY MILES PROTECT COAST

Testing the huge coast defense mortars in a fort "somewhere in the United States."

Although the Germans are still three thousand miles away, with no immediate prospect of visiting our shores with their fleet, the great coast defense guns are tested regularly and kept in instant readiness for any emergency. The guns shown here have a wider range than any carried by German battleships. The photo was taken at the moment when two immense shells were being rammed into the mortars.

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA YOUR COUNTRY Needs YOU, Too

The trumpet of war has sounded. From coast to coast the "sons of their fathers" are leaving the paths of peace for the paths of war and the cause of liberty.

From furrow and forest and factory—from the mines, the offices and the pulpit—the noble sons of Columbia are rallying to the battle cry:

"We Are Coming Father Woodrow 2,000,000 Strong"

Two million men of military age are leaving the fields, factories and offices to sacrifice their lives on the Altar of Freedom that YOU, mother, sister and daughter, may continue to enjoy the blessings of liberty, opportunity and democracy.

What sacrifice will YOU make for these two million fathers, sons and brothers to make their task of victory easier, quicker, surer? What sacrifice will YOU make to help feed and clothe them? What sacrifice will YOU make to keep the wheels of commerce humming?

Daughters of Columbia! Your duty is clear. You must take the places of these 2,500,000 men—in the field, in the factory and in the office. Your patriotism leaves you no choice. Your only choice is "what will I do?"

The fields and the factories do not require the same highly developed skill and training as the offices. Besides, there is plenty of untrained. The big cry—the big loss—the big demand—will be for trained, intelligent help.

It is for you to answer, Which service will you render? Will it be in the fields or in the factories at hard, tedious work with long hours and small pay or will it be in the offices amid pleasant surroundings, offering infinitely greater opportunities and paying larger salaries?

Never in all the history of American business will there be such a demand for office help, of every character, as will deluge us in the extremely near future. These who are "fit" will be selected—those who are fittest will receive the posts of honor and the fat pay-envelopes.

WILL YOU BE FIT—OR UNFIT? WILL YOU BE A REAL PATRIOT BY SO PREPARING YOURSELF THAT YOU CAN FILL A POSITION WHERE ABILITY AND TRAINING ARE NEEDED.

Begin at once to "train" for one of the preferred positions—of which there will be plenty. The business world and Uncle Sam's Civil Service departments cannot cease their operations in the least—yet, vacancies will be plentiful soon—they must be filled—business and governmental operations must go on.

Will you play your part as you SHOULD—or will you be forced to take one of the objectionable back-seats?

FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 4th Enlist today. Our seating capacity is being rapidly taken up.
